

Kennedy Appears Ahead in State; Could Beat Nixon

Religious Question Dominates Primary Battle, Lubell Says

BY SAMUEL LUBELL

Milwaukee — Wisconsin's presidential primary seems likely to yield Sen. John F. Kennedy a dramatic victory.

In eight Wisconsin cities, my interviewing shows Kennedy with a five-to-three edge over Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey. Of these Kennedy supporters, two out of five are Protestants.

This urban strength is offset considerably by Wisconsin's farmers, most of whom favor Minnesota's Humphrey because "he's closer to home" and "knows a dairy cow from a milk bottle."

When these clashing urban and rural sentiments are balanced off, Kennedy should sweep most of Wisconsin's delegation to the Democratic presidential convention.

As of today, he also seems strong enough to carry Wisconsin in November against Richard M. Nixon. The question as to whether a Catholic should be president dominates the whole Wisconsin primary battle. But this religious issue is not standing alone. It is being modified by at least three other influences — conflicting economic interests, the differing outlooks of older and younger generations, and sheer political showmanship.

Samuel Lubell, pollster and voting analyst, has completed a survey in Wisconsin in view of the state's primary on April 5. His findings reveal how Kennedy, Humphrey and Nixon stand, and voters' reaction toward a possible Catholic nominee for president. This is the first of three articles.

Catholic Solidarity

The solidarity of Catholic voters behind Kennedy shows up as far greater than that of Protestants behind Humphrey.

Five out of six Catholics who were interviewed favor Kennedy over Humphrey. Included are many normally

St. Louis Struck By More Than 300 City Employees

St. Louis — A strike by more than 300 city employees today halted many municipal operations.

The striking employees are members of craft unions which claim a new 5 per cent pay increase is inadequate.

Most city buildings and installations, including city hall, were picketed. Garbage and rubbish collections were halted, and the city incinerators were shut down.

Telephone calls to city departments could not be put through because the switchboard was unmanned. The telephone operators, along with many city employees, refused to cross picket lines.

Bulgarian Reported Retired on Pension

Moscow — Usually reliable informants say former Premier Nikolai Bulganin, sick and plagued by attacks as a member of the so-called anti-party group, has been retired on a pension and is back in Moscow.

The informants said Bulganin was put out to pasture after appealing to his old traveling companion and successor, Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Violence Wanes in Riot-Torn South Africa; Negroes Strike

Use of Police Bullets Sets Off Wave of Worldwide Criticism

Johannesburg, South Africa

— Violence appeared on the wane today in riot-bloodied South Africa, but militant Negroes turned to the strike in their campaign against the hated passes they must carry as nonwhites.

More and more Negroes were expected to stay away from their jobs, particularly in Cape Town and near Verwoerd, the coal and steel center south of Johannesburg. Nonwhite townships in those areas were the scene of the riots Monday and Tuesday in which police gunfire mowed down Negro men, women and children.

The official death toll was given today as 72 as more of the 182 wounded died in hospitals. Some newspapers put the total dead at nearer 90.

Wave of Criticism The use of police bullets to quell the Negro demonstrations set off a worldwide wave of criticism of South Africa's white supremacist government.

Dog and Lion Fights End

Naha, Okinawa — Lt. Gen. Donald P. Booth, top U. S. military commander on this American administered island, said today he is confident no more public fights between lions and dogs will be staged here.

He took steps to soothe public anger in Okinawa and the United States over a show staged by Okinawans in Naha last Sunday when a chained lioness chewed up five terrified dogs in front of several hundred paying spectators.

"U. S. authorities abhor such spectacles," Booth said in a statement. "We are confident that preventive measures that are being pursued jointly with local government authorities will prove effective in preventing any recurrence of such inhumane practices."

Protests from American servicemen and Okinawans were followed today by an 8,000-mile telephone call from an irate woman in San Francisco demanding that U. S. servicemen be kept away from such spectacles.

Von Braun said a quick look at data radioed from the rocket showed the first and second stages performed perfectly.

"But we have no indication of third stage ignition nor do we have an indication of the rocket continuing on after the point at which the third stage was scheduled to fire," the scientist said.

There has been no confirmation as yet of third and fourth stage ignition," the agency said adding:

"Tracking reports are being checked and a further report on upper stage performance will be available shortly."

The rocket was designed to place a 35-pound satellite into

Deny Lack of Planning for Summit Talks

'Lot of Nonsense,' Press Secretary Says of Reports

Washington — The White House today labeled as nonsense any contention that President Eisenhower will go to the Paris summit conference without advance planning for talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

At a news conference, press Sec. James C. Hagerty said that some Democratic members of the senate foreign relations committee had said the administration is approaching the May 16 summit meeting without any plans.

Lot of Nonsense "That's a lot of nonsense," Hagerty said.

A reporter told him that Sec. of State Christian A. Herter had in substance agreed with senators who said there has been no advance planning for the summit conference.

Hagerty replied that was not what Herter had testified. He said the senate committee had told the senate committee that there is "an element of risk" as to whether the summit meeting will produce any constructive results, and that there should not be too much optimism as to prospects for a successful conference.

Hagerty met with newsmen shortly after Eisenhower and Herter conferred again regarding Russia's latest nuclear test ban proposal.

Reporting on that meeting, Hagerty said the president and Herter reached no definite conclusions.

"The matter is still under serious study and serious consideration," Hagerty said.

Sloppiness Charge In Escape Hearing

Guard Appeals Suspension, Calls Act Judgment Error

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — A state employee union and managers of Wisconsin state reformatory near Green Bay disputed for nearly four hours Monday about the responsibility for a lapse in security arrangements at the institution that permitted the undetected escape of an inmate Feb. 29.

The arguments were put into the record of the state board of personnel, on an appeal by Francis Lasee, a guard, from an order suspending him for 30 days without pay. He was on duty when the escape of James Newburn was not reported until he was captured by Wausau police about six hours later.

Sloppy Management As Lasee's story was told by a lawyer for the Wisconsin State Employees Association, "sloppy" management of the institution was more responsible than Lasee's "error in judgment."

As the incident was described by counsel for the state department of public welfare, Lasee and two other guards who were suspended were lax, ignored established internal security procedures and explicit rules for their conduct.

John Shiels, chairman of the state board, said it will rule on the Lasee appeal after the hearing transcript is received in about 30 days. Disciplined state employees can appeal to the courts later, if their appeals are denied by the board.

Counts Reports M. A. Skaff, superintendent of the reformatory, was backed by several assistants in his story that the guards are instructed to report any discrepancy in the count of inmates in their charge, and that Lasee had failed to make a report to his superiors even after he realized that there was a discrepancy in his inmate accounting.

But several guards appeared to corroborate Lasee's insistence that such discrepancies are not unusual and that the method and frequency of counting inmates is largely

France Puts on Full-Dress Welcome for Soviet Leader On First of 11-Day Visit

Paris — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in Paris today for an 11-day state visit and indicated that disarmament may be uppermost in his mind when he talks with French President Charles de Gaulle.

In a speech after landing at Orly airport, Khrushchev touched on main problems facing east and west but said "we must in particular care for the problem of disarmament."

It appeared he was giving mild notice the subject was high on his personal agenda for the talks he will hold with de Gaulle.

De Gaulle, whose government is pushing ahead with a program of nuclear weapon development to increase its status in world councils, gave no indication of his reaction to Khrushchev's words.

Refers to Berlin Khrushchev also made what appeared to be an oblique reference to Berlin, speaking of the dangerous leftovers of World War II, a description he has often applied to the still-occupied German metropolis.

"These shells and these bombs are corroded by rust," he said, "and one runs a great risk in unearthing them. But to leave them intact is to expose yourself to even greater risk. Our engineers take them in hand carefully with caution and mastery. We must do the same in cleaning from our old and beautiful earth the remains of these somber years of war. It is a difficult and delicate task."

Only airport was a blaze of color and pageantry as the French put on a full-dress greeting for Khrushchev's first visit to France.

Heavy security precautions prevailed at the airport. Persons permitted to enter the arrival enclosure underwent four separate screenings. Security police were everywhere, as they will be wherever the Soviet visitor goes

Passage of the amended bill itself was expected today. The real test, most members agreed, was yesterday's vote on the referee plan. But several other sections still have to be considered.

Passage would send the bill to the weary senate, which began debating civil rights Feb. 15. Even after a series of around the clock sessions, the senate has not yet agreed on a bill.

Another Week The senate was expected to take at least another week, with indications it still may pass its own bill instead of accepting that passed by the house. Such action could delay for weeks or months final passage of a civil rights bill.

If the two houses pass separate versions, action by a conference committee would be needed to compromise the differences. That would open the measure to renewed delaying action by southern opponents.

The senate has been virtually marking time while the house acted. If it were to accept the house bill, the measure could be sent directly to President Eisenhower.

Proposes Labor Summit Meeting

New York — Top management and labor leaders should hold a "summit conference" in the near future to try to improve understanding, says Sec. of Labor James P. Mitchell.

Mitchell made the suggestion last night at a dinner of the industrial relations division of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of New York.

He said that periodic summit meetings, held in times when big negotiations were not in progress, would have "real merit if only tried."

Program for Paying Insurance for Aged

Plan Would Have Federal, State Government Absorbing Major Portion of Cost

Washington —(U)— Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming advised congress today the administration has been considering a program under which federal and state governments would pay the major cost of health insurance for the aged.

But no conclusion has been reached as to the best manner of dealing with the problem of financing medical care for the aged, Flemming told the house ways and means committee. He said emphasis in studies of the question is being placed on having the states carrying their fair share of the total burden.

The secretary presented a statement in a closed session of the committee but it was made public almost as the committee went into session.

Recommended Changes

The committee is considering general changes in the social security program. As to this, Flemming recommended:

1. Removing the requirement that an otherwise qualified disabled person must be 50 years of age to receive social security disability benefits.
2. Increasing the benefit for each child of a deceased worker to three-fourths of the worker's benefit amount had he lived.
3. The present law provides that in a survivor case the benefit payable to a child is one-half of what the worker's

Anti-Catholic Literature Is Denounced

Washington —(U)— Three pieces of anti-Catholic literature being circulated in Wisconsin and elsewhere were denounced Tuesday by a predominantly Protestant group.

The organization is the Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State, a national group which says its aim is maintenance of the separation of church and state.

Glenn Archer, executive director, said "American voters should be warned against these three samples of extremist literature. They are being peddled by over-zealous small printers."

Archer named the three items as an alleged autobiography of Maria Monk in a Montreal convent, a pamphlet on the assassination of Abraham Lincoln and a fraudulent oath of the Knights of Columbus.

He said the "alleged Knights of Columbus oath has been proved incorrect in court on several occasions" and labeled the Maria Monk book "largely mythical."

Relatives to Attend Services for Victims

Memorial Ceremonies Today for 63 Killed in Indiana Airline Tragedy

Tell City, Ind. —(U)— Relatives of 63 persons who died in an airliner crash come here today for a memorial service today, and health authorities must decide whether to seal the crater in which the victims' shattered bodies lie buried.

The 63 were killed last Thursday as a Northwest Airlines Electra turboprop plane crashed in a field near Tell City. Only fragments of bodies have been found in the gaping crater dug by the wreckage.

Four caskets symbolizing the religious faiths represented by the crash victims were to be interred in a section of the Tell City cemetery known as the Northwest Memorial plot. Ministers of Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and Shinto faiths were to conduct the services.

25-Car Procession

About 100 relatives, most of them flown by Northwest airlines from Chicago and Minneapolis, came Tuesday to Louisville, Ky. A 25-car procession was arranged to bring them here today.

Among the mourners will be Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zaig, former New London residents now living in Pompano Beach, Fla. Their daughter, Suzanne, was one of the victims.

Dr. John M. James, Perry county health officer, and state health officials were to inspect the crater and decide whether it should be sealed.

Coroner Ed Gilliek said the crater had become a health problem because of decomposition of the remains.

"There is a conflict in the need to recover all parts of the wrecked plane and the necessity to prevent a serious health situation," Gilliek said.

Additional remains were found Tuesday, but Gilliek said none of them were large. He added that "We're about at the end of the rope" in trying to recover more remains.

Members of the Civil Aeronautics board human factors team were trying to identify the remains.

Jasper Wants Votes Marked For Nixon

By The Associated Press

State Republican Chairman Claude Jasper said Tuesday night he wants GOP voters to mark their ballots for Vice President Richard M. Nixon in Wisconsin's April 5 presidential primary.

"It should be obvious to every Republican that a large Democratic vote in the Wisconsin primary will boost the morale of the Democratic party," Jasper said.

"It's just not good sense," Jasper said it would be foolish and futile for Republicans to vote for the Democratic candidate they think can be beaten by Nixon next fall.

Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota are entered in the state's Democratic presidential primary.

Humphrey, speaking at Eau Claire, told a college audience the U. S. is making a mistake in foreign policy now by identifying itself with things rather than people.

He described himself as a liberal and defined his brand as being in favor of farm co-operatives, consideration for the qualities and accomplishments of organized labor and uplifting the standards of living, working conditions and wages.

Two New Clues Found In Triple Slaying At Starved Rock Park

Set of Car Keys Discovered Along With Overcoat Button

Ottawa, Ill. —(U)— One week has passed since a search party tramped through deep snow to discover the battered bodies of three Chicago area matrons in Starved Rock state park. Their killer or killers remain at large.

Thirteen persons have taken lie tests in the triple murder, but all have been cleared.

Intense investigation by state and local officials has turned up several possible leads, but most have petered out.

Scrutinize Clues

Two new possible clues found Tuesday — a set of car keys and an overcoat button — are being scrutinized.

The objects were picked up in the vicinity of St. Louis canyon in the year-round resort area 90 miles southwest of Chicago. It was in a shallow cave in the canyon that the women's bodies were found.

The victims, all wives of Chicago business executives living in suburban Riverside, were Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47, Mrs. Mildred Lindquist, 50, and Mrs. Lillian Oetting, also 50. They had checked in to the park's lodge March 14 for a brief winter holiday. Two days later their bodies—savagely beaten and partially stripped—were found in the cave.

Find Car Keys

The car keys in a brown leather holder were fished from melting snow by Supt. William Morris, chief of the Illinois state police, as he walked along a trail leading to St. Louis canyon.

Stamped on the leather case were the words "Windsor, Canada." The keys bore the figures H18, a number which investigators said showed the keys were not made in this country.

The find was deemed important as authorities already had contacted Canadian officials about a car bearing Canadian license plates which reportedly was seen in the park March 14.

The overcoat button was found in the death cave. It was not determined immediately if the button came from clothing of one of the victims and it was sent to Springfield for examination by state crime lab experts.

Olympic Star's Son Gets Life in Prison

Indio, Calif. —(U)— The son of a former Olympic swimmer star was sentenced to life imprisonment Tuesday for the bludgeoning slaying of a redhaired Hollywood divorcee.

Tord Ove Zeppenfeld, 21, had pleaded guilty to the murder of Mrs. Lillian Lenorak, 42, on a desert road near Palm Springs last Nov. 7.

His mother is Mrs. Vega Zeppenfeld, former Swedish swimming champion and operator of a Palm Springs motel.

Jurors Deliberating Motherwell's Penalty

Downieville, Calif. —(U)— Jurors resume deliberating today whether to sentence Larry Lord Motherwell to the gas chamber or to life in prison.

Motherwell, 42, was convicted of killing Mrs. Pearl Putney, 72, a widow from Washington, D. C., after a cross country trip in 1958. Under California law, the jury that convicts in a murder case then holds another hearing and decides the penalty.

Mrs. Putney's remains were found near a Sierra Nevada logging road a year after she was last seen alive with Motherwell.

Jurors deliberated six hours Tuesday before a recess for the night. Motherwell, a construction worker, spent the time while the jury was out writing letters to his third wife in Washington.

Denies Motion

Before the jury got the case, Judge Warren Steel denied a motion for a mistrial Sarah's death was ruled accidental and a grand jury re-reges. Reges had contended in the prosecution was trying the child's death. Motherwell to convict Motherwell of said the child accidentally crimes other than the death of Mrs. Putney.

Motherwell's second wife, Sarah, was found dead in a Washington bathtub and the 14-month-old child, Heather, died in a panic.

Compulsory Check Sought for Cars

Madison —(U)— A compulsory safety inspection for motor vehicles was proposed Tuesday by Michael Grafenauer, president of the State Chiefs of Police association.

Grafenauer, of West Milwaukee, said a compulsory check of Wisconsin's 1,500,000 vehicles would be more effective in accident prevention than the present voluntary program.

The proposal was offered at a meeting of the state motor vehicle department attended by 25 highway safety officials.

Commissioner James Karns said that of 84,885 vehicles checked last spring, 14,155 were found defective.

Chief Stanley Haukedahl of Kenosha, supported Grafenauer's compulsory inspection proposal.

Air Force Hopes To Accelerate Titan Test Work

Cape Canaveral, Fla. —(U)— The Titan has passed its second long range flight test and the air force expects to accelerate its test program to make up for time lost because of a series of failures.

One of the 98-foot intercontinental range giants successfully flew a 5,000-mile course Tuesday. This was the second Titan flight over this range in a month and raised air force hopes that the missile has licked its problems.

A rash of explosions and other mishaps in a 10-month period dating to last May have left the program several months behind schedule.

Officials reported after Tuesday's success that Titans probably will be fired at a one-a-week clip to close the gap left by the setbacks.

The Titan has a potential range of 9,000 miles. But missiles launched in the current phase of the test program are not fully fueled, accounting for the shorter ranges.

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

POTPOURRI — People who busy themselves with such things have claimed that if you are of British descent you are probably a descendant of William the Conqueror who took the throne of England in 1066 A. D.

They base their reckoning on the fact that William had 10 children and that it is fair to presume that each of these 10 children had three more children, and that each of these had three more — and so on through 16 generations.

But, alas, if this were the true case indeed, William's every descendant would number, in the year 1960, the whopping total of 134,217,728 — more people of English descent than there are in the world.

Now that you're readying for the 1960 census, it might be interesting to recall that the first U. S. census was made in 1790 and included only the original states and Tennessee, Vermont and Kentucky. That first census merely gave the name of the head of the family, and was divided into five groups — males over 16, males under 16, females, all other free persons, and slaves.

Probably the first effective census ever taken was made at the order of William the Conqueror, who established what became known as the Domesday book. That book, surely the most valuable record of England, served as a register and cited the value, the tenure and the service of the lands described. The book was completed in 1086.

The comparatively short lives of those who lived in the long ago are always surprising to those of the present generation who have a life expectancy of about 70 years. A notable example of the short lives of earlier times is borne out by Queen Anne of England who had 17 children. Only one of the children survived infancy and died at the age of 11.

One of the most unusual means of searching for a missing child has been employed by Mrs. Anna Mary Thompson of Detroit whose small son was kidnapped in 1944.

Mrs. Thompson has requested the Journeyman Barber International to look for her son who has, she says, "a pinched right ear and a dimple below his left eye." From time to time this information is published in the Barber's publication. The boy was kidnapped when he was two years old and would be 16 years old now.

An Appleton lady was not satisfied with my last week's definition of the musical term "hemidemisemiquaver." Her explanation of it is better: a breve is two whole notes; a semibreve is one whole note; a minim is a half note; a crotchet is a quarter note; a quaver is a one-eighth note; a semiquaver is a one-sixteenth note; a demisemiquaver is a one-thirty second note; and a hemidemisemiquaver is a one sixty-fourth note.

A friend of mine works for a company which has many requests for credit and it is part of his job to review the credit reports.

One comment sent him by an investigating agency contained this masterpiece of a report on a local citizen: "The party in question has no property, either real or personal; no credit, either actual or potential; no prospects either present or future, and no hope, either here or hereafter."

Newspapers cover congressional investigations so thoroughly that you, of course, know all about them. But did you know that the first important congressional investigation to take place in American history was in 1792. A soldier was investigated because the troops under his command had been badly routed by a band of Indians.

Back in the 1950s a bleeding heart type of newspaper writer decided that he would explain the art of kissing. Here, he said, is how: "Approach the lady you intend to kiss. Take her right hand in yours and pass your left hand over her right shoulder. At the same time she will throw her head back as though to ask what is going on. You have nothing to do but lean forward and do the thing."

When you call up to report that "first robin, you might look him over and squash an old fib—that he cocks his head to "listen" for the worms in that garden.

The fact is that Mr. Robin eats about 70 worms a day and his method of hunting for the critters has given to the false notion that he is "listening" for them. He's not listening — he's looking.

The robin does not have bifocal vision and he can see better when a single eye is aimed directly at the object he's examining. That is the reason for the cocked head. Okay?

Did you know that you almost became a Chippewian instead of Wisconsinite? True! Way back when the region west of Lake Michigan was being proposed for a territory, James Duane Doty, federal judge in Green Bay suggested the name Chippewa after the tribe of Indians which had lived here since at least 1640.

The name was all but accepted when Doty had another idea and submitted it—Wisconsin. The early French had called it Ouisconsin after the river, and the first printed use of our state's name was in Father Marquette's journal, published in Paris in 1680.

Father Marquette spelled it "mess8sing." The figure 8 was used by the French to take the place of the letters "ou."

Wind Figures in Crashes on Roads in Calumet County

Chilton — Wind driven snow Monday caused icy stretches on Calumet county highways and figured in two auto accidents.

Cars driven by Walter A. Nimmer, 59, Oshkosh, and Edwin Juckem, 37, route 1, Chilton, were involved in a side-swipe at 11:20 a.m. Monday on Highway 57, 1½ miles north of Chilton.

Both vehicles were south-bound and collided when Nimmer attempted to pass Juckem and lost control on ice, county police said.

At 3:25 p.m. Monday a car driven by Mrs. Jean Thiel, 21, of 1203½ Division street, Appleton, overturned on Highway 55-114 about one-half mile west of Sherwood.

Mrs. Thiel told police a gust of wind seemed to push the car as it came to an icy stretched in the highway causing her to lose control. She escaped uninjured.

Three persons were injured Sunday when cars driven by Walter F. Kath, 55, Sheboygan, and Edward DeLuc, 21, Gladstone, Mich., collided almost headon at the intersection of Highways 57 and 114, one mile south of Hilbert.

Persons Injured
Kath was traveling south on 57 and turned left from behind another car into the path of DeLuc's car, county police said.

DeLuc received a cut forehead and a passenger, Evelyn Gaus, 20, Kipling, Mich., chest injuries. The shoulder of Caroline Kath, 58, a passenger in the car driven by the Sheboygan man, was sprained.

The injured persons were treated at Calumet Memorial hospital and released.

The Republican Campaign

Some solid advice on campaign methods for the Wisconsin Republican party, which faces for the first time in a generation the challenge of an incumbent Democratic state regime, came the other day from an articulate and seasoned politician of northern Wisconsin.

Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi of Vilas county, who has had half a dozen terms in the legislature, told a rally of Dane county Republicans at Madison that his party must prepare to campaign on the issues, and especially because the issues in state politics this year favor the Republican cause.

Above all, the party must eschew the tawdry temptation to indulge in name-calling, he warned. The independent voters who turned from Vernon Thomson to give Gaylord Nelson the governorship two years ago may be inclined to reconsider their decision this year, he hazarded. But they will be driven away unless the Republican campaigners concentrate on the legitimate points of dispute in state politics.

This is sound counsel. We often have felt that the typical Wisconsin politician has underrated both the intelligence and the knowledge of the majority of Wisconsin voters. Especially among the independents, the desire is for clear-cut definitions of the issues, and definitive positions of the parties and the candidates.

Mr. Alfonsi has suggested that Gov. Nelson has been dissuaded by others in his party on the issue of state tax revision, which he pledged when he campaigned for his office nearly two years ago and which he now appears anxious to put aside until after this fall's election. We don't know, of course, with any degree of certainty, what the political pressures upon Nelson may be within his own party organization. But it is on the record that the governor made a favorable impression by his realistic diagnosis of the state's tax dilemma two years ago, and he has seemed to be equivocating on the matter lately. Republicans who were on the defensive two years ago will be quite within their rights by challenging the present administration on this question and will be serving the cause of civic education in the process. There is no more commanding or vital problem in Madison than the refashioning of the outdated fiscal system.

Similarly, the governor has invited an examination of the record on the issue of property tax relief. If property taxes have been cut anywhere in Wisconsin during the last year it has escaped general notice. It is the right of the governor's opponents to cite that record, but we believe they will also find it profitable to explain how they would achieve property tax reform — in the absence of a concrete Nelson proposal to date.

The Senate Seat in Oregon

When the late Sen. Richard Neuberger was in the Oregon state senate, he introduced a bill, later made into law, requiring the governor to appoint a person of the same political party to a seat in Congress made vacant by the death or retirement of its holder. Gov. Mark Hatfield decided not to challenge the validity of the law, and appointed a life-long Democrat, but a non-controversial, non-political aspirant, to the seat left vacant by Sen. Neuberger's death.

Some political observers feel the appointment was a shrewd maneuver. Gov. Hatfield had announced that he would appoint no one who was planning to run for the unexpired term in November. This automatically left out Mrs. Maurine Neuberger although the governor offered her the position on those terms. Since an incumbent usually has an advantage over a challenger, a Democrat will not have an automatic lead in the fall election over a candidate from Gov. Hatfield's party.

However, political emotions are hard to predict. It may be that Democrats and unattached voters will rally behind Mrs. Neuberger because of her position as the widow, and take the recent appointment as an affront to her. Unencumbered by problems of the Senate, she will have an opportunity to campaign more vigorously. So the election in Oregon gets so confused that anything can happen. Voters will elect someone to fill out Sen. Neuberger's unexpired term, a matter of some two months, as well as someone to fill the position for six years beginning next January. It is possible, although not probable, that the seat could be held by four different people in the course of one year.

Lotteries in Alaska

Alaska, having joined the union as the 49th state, is beginning to discover that it has acquired some new responsibilities.

The Nenana ice lottery which has flourished without restraint from the law since the builders of the Alaskan railroad set it up in 1913 now is running into some difficulties. Two hundred thousand $1 tickets have been sold in this lottery in which the contestants attempt to pick the exact minute when the ice will break on the Tanana river.

No doubt the lottery offered the opportunity for a lot of interesting conversation as the long Alaskan winters came to an end. The $1 admission fee probably was just enough to stimulate interest and the possibility of $200,000 in prizes certainly was enough to insure the $1 investment.

But now the new state senate has approved a bill by a vote of 18 to 2 which would sanction this and other lotteries and raffles, including church and fraternal bingo games and community sponsored salmon derbies and dog races.

The senate acted to forestall action by the State Department of Public Safety which had planned to enforce anti-gambling laws unless the legislature indicated otherwise. The bill now goes to the house and it is believed the house will pass it. State Sen. Ralph Moody, Democrat, Anchorage, and chairman of the judicial committee, said, "It is time to face facts. Let's have the fortitude to admit what's going on."

What Others are Saying

Advertising Called Positive Force for Good in Society

From The Denver Post

It will come as no surprise that newspapermen think advertising is a pretty good thing. After all, what would newspapers be without it? They certainly wouldn't be the elaborate products they are today, low priced but costly combinations of the talents of hundreds of technical and professional people.

They might instead be high priced and skimpy pamphlets, or slick but suspect organs of government or special interest groups. Or they might not exist at all.

But granting all this, we have still just scratched the subject.

For advertising is, on balance, a positive force for good in our society — in and of itself and not just for the things advertising dollars make possible.

There's no better time to bring this up than Advertising Week, which was February 14-20 this year.

Advertising is, first of all, economic news.

It does, or can, tell you something you didn't know before. It tells you what the new cars are like, what's available in clothing, how you can make your home more efficient or attractive, where you can get the kind of shoes that suit you.

Advertising is a yardstick that helps make you, as a consumer, more efficient.

Without advertising, you might have to shop every seller to find the product you want.

Advertising tells you where to find it, about what you can expect to pay and, through the establishment of brand names and reputations, what levels of quality are available.

And, of course, advertising is the best salesman the maker or seller of goods has.

Otherwise the man with something to sell would either have to open his shop and hope the customers would drop by, or pile his goods in a wagon and hawk them in the streets.

Without advertising, what would happen to consumption? What about trade, and the incomes it supports, directly or indirectly?

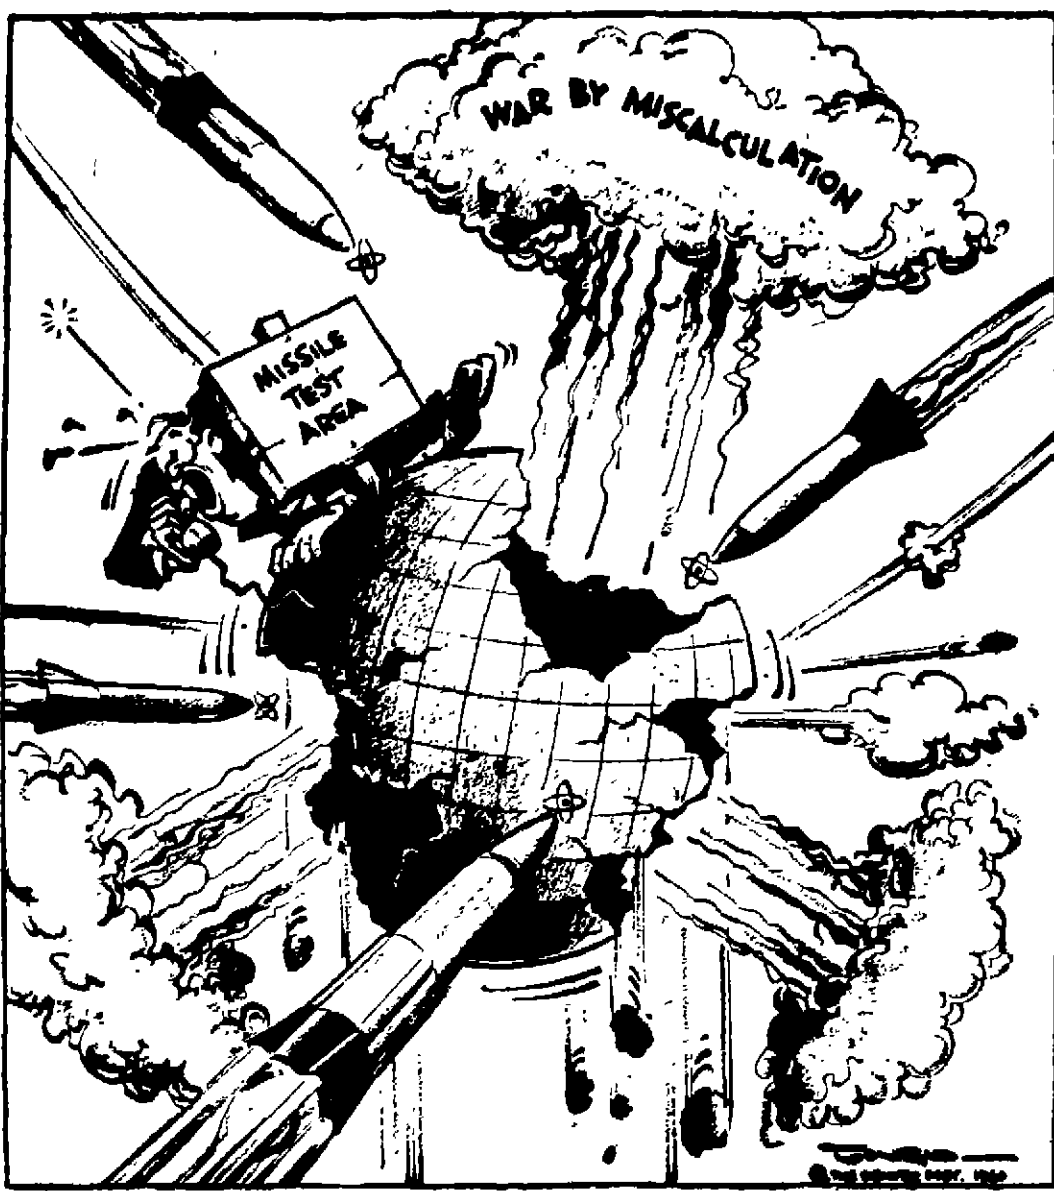

Of course advertising would be virtually unnecessary in a controlled society, where you consume what the government wants you to consume and you buy it where you're told to.

But who wants to live that way?

Asks Help in Having Censure Of Sen. McCarthy Expugned

Editor, Post-Crescent:

On May 2, 1960, it will be three years since the death of Sen. Joseph McCarthy. Since that day, we have seen some things happen which have given us cause to become more alarmed than ever.

When Sen. McCarthy was in the senate, he was able to make the head lines in his fight against the communists, and by so doing, alert the public. Since his death there have been those in congress who are fighting a good battle, but the public is not kept informed since they rarely make the head lines.

After Khrushchev, the butcher of Budapest, was in the United States and was entertained at the White House, where Sen. McCarthy was considered the enemy of the people, we began to hear repeated over and over that McCarthyism is dead.

It's time we let them know that those of us, who looked upon Sen. McCarthy as a hero, are still around and working against them.

We can let them know we are not asleep by working together to have the whole proceeding relating to the censure of Sen. McCarthy expunged from the permanent record. In this way, we can continue the fight through Sen. McCarthy, whom they still fear, since they repeat their claim so often.

Those who might be interested can write to Sen. Carl Mundt and to their own senators and ask that a resolution be offered to that effect. Write to the Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C.

This letter is going to every news media that expressed an opinion on Sen.

Railroad Route Election Issue

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of March 24, 1860.

There is a good deal of figuring just now about the municipal offices to be filled. Aside from the treasurer, none are worth having as far as pecuniary remuneration is concerned.

A few want the honor of being Mayor or Alderman, while many desire those positions because they have some scheme on foot upon the accomplishment of which they have set their hearts, and they are willing to work without pay to take the chance of success.

The city subscription to the railroad gives the Common Council the opportunity to say something about the route, and no doubt both Mayor and Alderman will be supported or opposed as they favor the "Table Land" or "River Route."

Indeed we hear a great deal of figuring to get a Shorter Hours May Result in 'Moonlighting'

From The Columbus (Ohio) Citizen-Journal

A child in Memphis played with matches, was burned, and so was her mother. The father, driving to round up relatives to care for the other children, apparently slept at the wheel. A wreck put him in the same hospital.

Then it was disclosed he had been holding down two jobs, putting in 16 hours a day, seven days a week.

Unemployment helped hasten the 8-hour day and the 5-day week. But, in many cases, this system actually has lengthened, rather than shortened, the weekly hours of labor.

It has given rise to the practice of "moonlighting," in which a person works his eight hours at his usual job, then works on into the night at another.

This is an illustration of the contrary way in which well-intentioned plans sometimes work out. The family head working long hours at two jobs is increasingly common. The incident in Memphis illustrates but one

Kennedy Doesn't Talk Issues With Voters

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — Sen. John Kennedy's ceaseless speech theme as he greets voters in the village squares and lodge halls of Wisconsin is the idea that the presidential primary is an educational tool for the aspirant.

The people of Wisconsin, he apparently intends, will feel proud that it is their state that has had the foresight and the devotion to the democratic idea to require the candidates for the highest office in the land to come to them to learn about their problems and hopes.

It is a good gimmick, no doubt. But it has no more connection with reality than many of the other sentiments and bromides the eager candidate for public place is prone to utter on his travels.

If John Kennedy is pausing anywhere to discuss the issues with the people, and to listen to them talk about their own grass roots views, the reporters who have trailed along with him through half a hundred towns thus far have missed it. The brief handshake, the quick "nice to see you," the autograph signing — they have no visible relation to the announced desire to ascertain the people's views or to understand the thinking in the grass roots.

Or, the critic is tempted to say, they have approximately the relation to the instruction of the voter or the enlightenment of the candidates that Sinatra's performances have to musical understanding and appreciation.

THE SHOW

The purpose of the presidential candidates in this relatively small and unimportant state — in delegate or popular vote terms — is simply strategic. The goal is the publicity windfall that will result here. If Pennsylvania had an April 5 primary and Wisconsin didn't, Wisconsin would never see these occasional White House candidates at close range — or at the most, as a whistle stop on the general campaign tour schedule later in the year.

Precisely the same things can be said about Sen. Humphrey's purposes. Perhaps they are underlined by the more desperate necessities of his position. If Humphrey loses here he is almost surely out of the race. If Kennedy type of risk from this kind of over-employment.

Wyngaard

dy loses here, he might retrieve elsewhere. Humphrey is the candidate of the middle west, and of the farmer, by his own chosen definitions. If he misses here he has missed finally.

But it is precisely because in each presidential primary one or two aspirants feel they must make the gamble in Wisconsin that the Wisconsin system has an artificiality about it that has made even some of its erstwhile friends skeptical. Kennedy or Humphrey will reap a strategic harvest here. But what would the results be if all of the Democratic hopefuls had entered in Wisconsin?

MEANINGLESS

How many votes that would be cast for Stevenson will go for Humphrey or Kennedy, and how many that would back Symington or Johnson or any one of the stable of dark horses will go to the filed candidates here as second choices? And how many Republicans who will be voting for Nixon in November will invade the Democratic primary this spring to vote for the man they dislike least, or out of sheer deviltry? How many serious minded citizens won't bother to vote at all, tired of the pretense that a system that works to fit the convenience of the politician, rather than to provide a legitimate outlet for popular opinion, has any meaning?

The most finely tuned ears in Wisconsin Democratic politics belong to Sen. William Proxmire.

The junior senator of Wisconsin volunteered the other day that the next legislature is likely to do away with the Wisconsin presidential primary altogether, because of limitations over which the state cannot have any control. This may very well be an example of Mr. Proxmire's prescience.

Hoffa Threats May Benefit Candidates

From The Oregonian (Portland)

At least 40 of the 56 U. S. representatives Jimmy Hoffa says he is going to beat with teamster union money are responding with cries of unalloyed pleasure. They are organizing to fight back. They think being on Hoffa's blacklist is just what they need for victory in their districts.

The first counter-attack against the discredited boss of the teamsters has arrived. It is a reprint of a New York Times story about Hoffa's targeting of 56 congressmen (54 Republicans, two Democrats) out of the 229 who voted to substitute the Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill for a soft committee bill. Fifty-five of these were chosen for special attention by Hoffa because they were elected in 1958 by a 5 per cent margin of the vote or less.

On the opposite side of the page from the Times reprint, the campaign leaflet says in large type: "Hoffa demands that you defeat Congressman Norblad. He voted for curbs and rackets in unions. He represents you, not Hoffa."

The national Republican congressional committee sent out this one. Presumably, the congressmen attacked by Hoffa will do some backfiring of their own as a result of three meetings in Washington, D. C. They might also point out that it was Hoffa and his lobbyists who put so much crude pressure on congress that they virtually assured adoption of the final version of the Landrum-Griffin bill which became law.

Sale of Famed Door County Theater Put Off

Peninsula Players Property Now Goes On Block April 15

Post-Crescent News Service
Sturgeon Bay — Friends of the Peninsula Players, Door county's famed summer theater, have been granted additional time to achieve a financial rescue.

The real and personal property at Fish Creek has been seized by the government to satisfy a claim of $4,403.76 in admission taxes. Public sale under sealed bids had been scheduled for Monday, but was postponed to April 15.

A representative of the internal revenue service at Green Bay said the sale would be abandoned if the government's lien were satisfied before the deadline.

Small Fraction
But the delinquent federal taxes actually represent only a small fraction of the money troubles that have befallen the Peninsula Players. It has estimated that their current obligations amount to nearly $40,000.

The largest claim is a mortgage for $21,000 held by the Bank of Sturgeon Bay. Foreclosure action was started by the bank several months ago.

It is also reported that the bank holds notes totaling something like $5,000.

Real estate taxes remain unpaid for 1958 and 1959. They total $1,172.61 for the two years. Personal property taxes of about $100 also have not been paid.

Five individuals and firms have filed suits for a total of $3,391.75.

Owe On Dividends
The Peninsula Players also have been unable to meet at least two semi-annual dividends on preferred stock. With 401 shares of $100 each at 5 per cent, the amount due would come to $2,005.

Sealed bids on property are being filed with the internal revenue service in Green Bay. The proposals are to be opened on the premises of the theater. The property consists of a 20-acre tract on the shore of Green Bay. There has been some speculation that real estate interests might be looking to acquire the land for development.

Nine Marines Found Adrift In China Sea

Tokyo — Nine U.S. Marines found adrift in a rubber boat in the stormy South China sea were reported in good condition today and back with their units.

The men are taking part in a U.S.-Chinese amphibious exercise, Operation Blue Star, off southern Formosa.

The marines started for the beach on a reconnaissance mission but were blown out to sea. A Japanese fishing boat, the No. 3 Kotoshiro Maru, picked them up Tuesday afternoon and put them aboard (the Pope County, an American LST (landing ship tank).

Reformatory Inmates Down

Usual Peak Season Finds Population Lower Than in 1959

Post-Crescent News Service
Green Bay — The inmate population of the Wisconsin state reformatory is 1,008, one year after the all-time record of 1,040 was set by the half-century-old institution.

This is the time of year when the reformatory population historically reaches its annual peak, says Supt. M. A. Skaff.

Skaff attributed the lower population now than a year ago to better economic conditions, explaining that probation and parole agents report the availability of more jobs lowers the number of young men who might be convicted of crimes and committed to the reformatory.

While the institution's population today is lower than its record high, it continues to require quartering of around 90 inmates on cots in cell hall corridors because there is not enough permanent housing space.

Another 240 inmates in trust status are housed in two minimum security dormitories provided last year to meet the burgeoning population of the institution.

Clouds, Cool Weather in Forecast

Cloudy skies and cool weather are expected to remain in the Fox Cities until Thursday. A gradual warming trend then is expected.

A high of 30 was registered amid Tuesday's sunshine. The power of the sun, however, was strong enough to melt some snow.

Lack of warm weather has put maple sugaring almost at a standstill. There is a slow movement of sap in some areas.

A fresh snowstorm blew in to the northern section of the state on heels of the Arctic cold.

The weatherman said the snow would spread through the north. Some flurries may blow south as the front passes, he said.

Maki, 18, Waukegan, $15 fine; Russell S. Emrich, 29, Hortonville, $15 fine; Eugene M. Dellacecca, 26, of 1805 E. Melrose street, $10 fine; Harold F. Blish, 30, Milwaukee, $13.95 forfeited.

Clarence J. Van Handel, 39, of 1001 E. Main street, Little Chute, denied speeding and posted $13.95 for trial Monday.

Illegal Passing

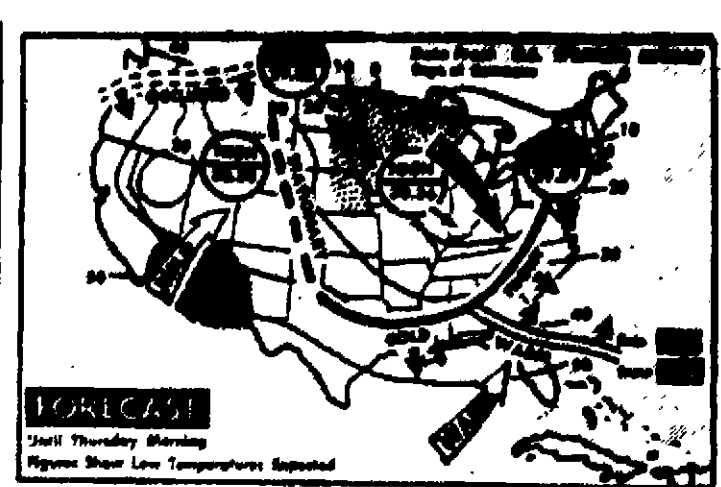

Charged four points for illegal passing were Danworth M. Turner, 46, of 1511 W. Kamps avenue, $25 fine; Arved P. Schwagel, 44, Browns Valley, Minn., $25 fine; William A. McElhiney, 29, Hinsdale, Ill., $28.95 forfeited; Snorre O. Bronbeck, 38, Wausau, $25 forfeited; Lawrence H. Eckstein, 46, route 1, Oshkosh, $25 fine; Willis A. Michaels, 35, Milwaukee, $28.95 forfeited.

Richard W. Froehlich, 45, Milwaukee, was fined $10 for following too closely in traffic with his truck.

Right-of-Way

Oscar Smestad, 49, route 1, Wittenberg, was fined $10 for failing to yield the right-of-way and was charged three points.

Charged with drivers' license offenses were Robert R. Schroeder, 32, of 211 E. McKinley street, $10 fine; Richard A. Leitch, 31, of 806 W. Bell avenue, $7.95 forfeited; and Walter Voigt, 25, route 1, Hortonville, $28.95 forfeited and $18.95 for no registration.

It will be colder in the upper Mississippi valley and the north and central plains.

Youth Librarian at Public Library to Leave April 16

The resignation of Miss Patricia Ewen, Neenah, youth librarian at Appleton Public library, was accepted by the library board Tuesday.

Miss Ewen

Plans for library week include a coffee hour for businessmen April 5 and tours through the library throughout the week. The Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce will mail invitations to the coffee hour later this week.

There now are openings for three professional librarians or individuals with library training or experience. In addition to the youth department opening, people are needed to head the extension department and adult service department.

There also are two openings on the clerical staff.

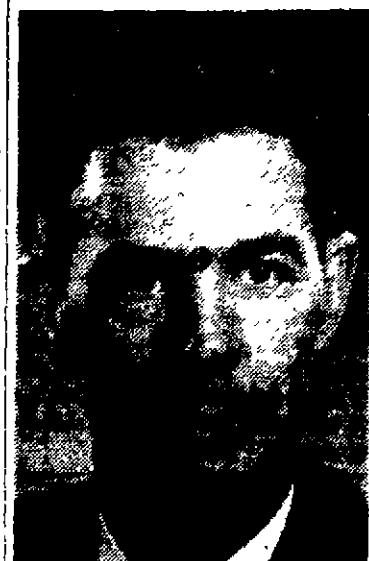

Turn Down Hike in Bike License Fees

A proposal to hike the fee for bicycle licenses from 25 cents to 50 cents and make them good for two years was turned down by the city council's public safety committee Tuesday.

The change had been suggested to reduce the work load of the police department.

However, Police Chief Walter Hendricks and Lt. John Gosch spoke against the idea during the committee meeting. Both said they felt annual inspection of bicycles and the contact made with youngsters every year was worth the extra work.

One committeeman said, "Maybe the children should be inspected rather than the bicycles," and suggested an annual spring bicycle school where police could instruct and test riders on traffic safety. No action was taken on the suggestion.

Nine Teenagers Held On Murder Charges

Arlington, Mass.—(AP)—Nine teenagers were held without bail on murder charges today—accused of killing a would-be peacemaker seeking to prevent a gang fight. The crime numbered a whole community.

The death of Franklin H.

Theall, 26-year-old tree surgeon, at the hands of a gang of young toughs who resented his efforts to stop their trouble-making in a neighborhood spa spurred a community effort to cope with juvenile violence.

Theall, an army veteran, was dragged away from a cup of coffee Monday night, beaten and stabbed in the street and left dying in a gutter.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAM gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONAM moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAM's unequalled rebulking action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAM acts gently on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAM relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAM won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAM today! Introductory size 43c.

Hike in Parking Meter Fines Sought

Committee Also Suggests New Time Limits, 'Maids'

Parking meter violation fines will be doubled to $1 and new time limits put into effect in some areas if the city council adopts recommendations of the public safety committee agreed upon Tuesday.

At present meter violation fines are 50 cents. Raising the fines to $1 has been proposed as a means of discouraging "meter feeders."

Another aspect of the fine proposal will have to be settled between the committee and City Atty. Jury before an ordinance is drafted. It would double the $1 fine if it is not paid within 24 hours.

To make it more convenient for violators to pay fines, the committee suggested an envelope type ticket be used, which can be deposited in fine boxes attached to meters.

Time limit restrictions will be changed on three downtown lots in an attempt to provide a quicker turnover of vehicles during shopping hours.

Sullivan, Greisch, Carry Campaigns To Dane County

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Two Outagamie county candidates for state office carried their campaigns for Republican state convention endorsement into Dane county last night.

Assemblyman W. T. Sullivan, Kaukauna, state treasurer aspirant, and District Attorney George Greisch, Appleton, who wants to become attorney general of the state, asked for the backing of Madison delegates to the Republican state convention in May.

Both indicated that they will run in the September primary election for the party nomination only if they get the approval of the state party rally in the spring.

Griech confined his remarks to an announcement of his availability.

Sullivan told of his political experience, including that gained during 35 years as a member of the public school system of Kaukauna.

"If you don't think you learn about politics in school work, then you don't know anything about school work," he cracked.

son lot would have a week-day 4-hour limit from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. for a fee of five cents for two hours. A 5-cent fee also would be charged from 6 p.m. to 5 a.m., with free parking from 5 a.m. to 9 a.m. No restrictions or fees would be set for Sunday and holiday parking.

The lots at the southeast corner of Division and Washington streets and the northwest corner of Morrison and Washington streets would be changed from the present 4-hour limit to two hours, at the usual 5-cent an hour rate.

It also is proposed that meters on the four corners at the intersections of College avenue with Morrison, Oneida, Appleton and Superior streets be changed from one hour limits to 15 minutes.

To enforce the meter ordinances, the committee recommends hiring "meter maids." They would be under control of the parking meter department.

The committee authorized purchase of 350 meters for the Alton-Kimball-Morrison lot and for replacement of worn meters.

If recommendations of the committee are approved by the council, the city attorney will be asked to recodify parking meter ordinances to include the changes.

Ask State Office To Rule on Parking Stall

A request for a parking stall in front of Fouray Beverages, 731 E. Wisconsin avenue, will be left up to the state highway commission for decision, the council's public safety committee decided Tuesday.

Owners of the business have asked for the stall because parking will be banned there under provisions of a plan to install traffic signals at the Wisconsin avenue - Meade street intersection.

The state wants to ban parking for 200 feet from the intersection.

Committeemen decided to ask the state highway office in Green Bay to ban parking for only 178 feet instead of 200 feet. They agreed the state decision would be final.

Family Parties Can Be Rotated

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: About five years ago, my husband and I bought a house and my mother and father-in-law came to live with us. My husband has several brothers and sisters, all married. Before coming to live with us, my parents-in-law had their own house and whenever a special occasion arose, the family would all gather at their house to celebrate. Now that mother and dad are living with us, they all come over to our house instead. I am really getting fed up with it as the family gets larger each year and I don't feel up to all this extra work that these get-togethers entail. Mother and dad will soon celebrate another anniversary and I am sure they are all planning to come here. Will you please tell me how I can tactfully put an end to this without causing a family rift?

Answer: Have your husband explain to his brothers and sisters how much extra work these family celebrations mean for you and that you are just not up to it, and ask if they won't take turns having them at their houses.

Actress, Dime Store Heir Plan Marriage

Hollywood — Marriage in the best Hollywood tradition — merging wealth and beauty — begins unpretentiously tomorrow for dime store heir Lance Reventlow and actress Jill St. John.

Reventlow, 24, a playboy with a flair for auto racing, reputedly is heir to more than $20 million. This will be his first marriage.

Miss St. John, 19, a red-haired starlet who's been in the entertainment business since the age of 6, was married at 16 to a linen supply company executive and divorced at 18. Her press agents say she has an IQ of 162.

The young couple say they will be wed in a civil ceremony but won't say where. They got a marriage license at Riverside Tuesday.

The small group attending the wedding will include Reventlow's mother, heiress Barbara Hutton, and Jill's parents, Mr and Mrs Edward Oppenheim of Beverly Hills.

Jill said her wedding ring will be a plain platinum band because:

"Anything more elaborate wouldn't look good because of the size of my diamond engagement ring. I don't know how many carats it is — I never asked Lance, but it looks big. It goes almost from knuckle to knuckle."

Latin American Dancers to Meet

The recently-formed Latin American Dance club will meet at 8 p.m. Saturday at the YMCA. An hour of instruction will precede dancing to recorded music.

There is no membership fee, and a dance is held every third week. The group's purpose is to teach and learn steps from south of the border, including the cha-cha, mambo and tango. Mrs. Gordon Miller, 342 W. Commercial street, is one of the instructors, along with foreign exchange students from the University of Wisconsin.

Anyone interested may attend Saturday's dance.

Answer: It may be marked with whatever sentiment the bride chooses. Usually, however, if the bridegroom is to have a ring, it is marked "M.A.S. to J.H.B." and the date.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her booklet No. 501, entitled "Etiquette of Weddings," send 25 cents in coin to Dept. E.P., care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 99 Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

Your Problems Husband's Interest in Sports Cars Irks Neglected Wife

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My ten about cheating in a husband has gone goofy over demic circles. In our school sports cars I'm just about the angle-shooters don't ready to tell him to go sleep in the garage if he puts the cars before his own family.

He has a good business, and we don't want for anything but it's the time I resent. He spends just common knowledge that hours monkeying with the cars — (he has two now). He reads everything on sports cars that he can lay his hands on.

He'll go half way across the state to see a sports-car race. He can't take the kids along because only two can get in the car with him, and the other two would have to stay home.

The other evening the dog was sick and my husband couldn't even drive him to the vet because both cars were torn down.

He doesn't have any big faults like smoking, drinking or swearing but this car business is getting my goat. What is your opinion? — Gladys

Dear Gladys: You ought to be happy your husband has a 4-wheeled pastime instead of a 2-legged one. Sports cars are a wonderful hobby, and many women are just as interested in them as men.

There are more pluses to your marriage than minuses. Count your blessings and don't be a flat tire.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Much has been said and writ-

Camera Concerti to Close Artist Series

Eighteenth century masters share a program with a contemporary composer for the final Lawrence Community Artist Series concert of the season, the Camera Concerti, at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday in the Memorial chapel.

Jack Delano is the contemporary composer whose work,

"Offrenda Musical," will be performed by the 14-member chamber orchestra. Joseph Eger, director of the group, and Walter Trampler are featured in this number.

Walter Trampler, viola soloist, stars in Antonio Vivaldi's "Concerto No. 2 in D Minor for Viola d'amore." Vivaldi, the Italian priest of the 18th century, while noted primarily for his violin compositions, wrote outstanding works for many other instruments, including the viola d'amore.

Mozart Work
Child prodigy Wolfgang Mozart will be represented by his "Concerto in E flat Major," with a French horn solo by Joseph Eger.

J. S. Bach's "Concerto in C Minor for Violin and Oboe," will feature soloists Saul Ovcharov and Lois Wann. Bach's violin studies alone comprise about a third of any violinist's repertoire.

Tickets for Tuesday's concert are available at Bellings pharmacy.

Use Care In Sewing New Fibers

Wash-and-wear fabrics have become quite popular and common this year. These new fabrics demand that you use the right notions and sewing techniques if you are going to be satisfied with your finished product, according to a University of Wisconsin clothing instructor.

There are three types of wash-and-wear fabrics — the 100 per cent synthetic fiber, blends with a high percentage of synthetic fiber, and cotton, linen or rayon with resin finishes.

Choose interfacing, lining, shoulder pads and tape which are preshrunk and washable if you are going to use them with wash-and-wear fabrics.

Loose Setting
Using the sewing machine on these fabrics is an art, also. You need a loose setting on both upper and lower tensions of the machine. If you don't loosen both, you may find your seams puckering because these fabrics don't have much give to them.

Watch the pressure foot. The slippery surfaces in two layers won't move together through the machine like wool or cotton will. You may have to loosen the pressure which is at the top of the needle bar on most machines.

To test this pressure, take two 8-inch pieces of fabric. Sew down about one-half inch, then smooth the fabric and pin it close to the bottom and sew down the rest of the fabric to the pin.

If a bubble appears between the machine and the pin as you get near the pin, the pressure is too tight.

Legion Auxiliary Hears Aid Director

Rowland Todd, director of the United Community Services in Appleton, addressed the American Legion auxiliary, Oney Johnston-Edward Blessman Post 38, and its guests, the Legion post, at a supper meeting Monday evening.

Sheinwold Use Care in Picking Suit To Develop

BY ALRED SHEINWOLD We have come to a time of the year when many of our best citizens are thinking of picking a suit. Experience has taught some of them that the strongest suit isn't always the best. At any rate, that's true at the bridge table.

South wins the first trick with the king of hearts and must choose a suit. Should he develop the clubs or the diamonds?

See what happens if South goes after clubs, the stronger suit. He leads a club to dummy's king and returns a club to the ace. East's spade discard warns South to abandon the clubs.

Now South must try the diamonds willy-nilly. He leads the queen of diamonds and lets it ride for a finesse. East should refuse the trick. In fact, if East is a player of real class, he will refuse the trick to the Appleton High school student exchange program and to the Camp American Legion project.

Mrs. Daniel Haase, auxiliary president, introduced Richard Bowden, Legion commander, and presented him with a $1,000 certificate for the Memorial building.

A special reports meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. April 12 at the clubhouse for all chairmen and officers.

Guests for the evening were the post and auxiliary officers, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Berken, state commander, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arndt, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Maynard and Mr. and Mrs. Rodger Busch.

Mrs. Milton Teske was in charge of the program and social committees and was assisted by Mmes. Robert Schroeder, Gilbert Wolft, Leonard Gerrits, Howard Feavel, Frank Schiedermayer, Berken, Bowden, Edward Arndt, Jr., Evan Pegel, Lawrence Witthuhn, Sherman Kapp, Edward Kuether, Keith Jahnke, James Davis, Robert Pekarske, Ray Haase, Fred Gehrke, Inez Hamlin and Miss Mary Hamlin.

very casually — as if he couldn't possibly win it. Now South is in serious trouble. If he tries to repeat the diamond finesse he will wind up with only seven tricks. Even if he guesses what is going on in diamonds, he should still wind up with a minus score.

Start Diamonds South's correct play is to start the diamonds even though they are weaker than clubs. If the diamonds are to be tackled at all they must be developed while the king of clubs remains as an entry to dummy.

At the second trick South leads the queen of diamonds for a finesse. It seems to succeed, and South tries it again. This time East takes the king of diamonds, but South is not flummoxed by East's little deception.

Declarer can get to dummy with the king of clubs to lead out the ace of diamonds. When the diamonds break 3-3, he is sure of nine tricks.

What if the diamonds fail to break so obligingly? There is still time to go after the clubs. If the clubs are going to break favorably at the beginning of the hand they will still be waiting for you a few tricks later. You can try the diamonds first and then the clubs, but you cannot try the suits in the opposite order.

DAILY QUESTION Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-Q 10 6 5 2, H-Q 9 8 7, D-K 10 5, C-10. What do you say?

Answer: Bid four spades. This jump shows at least four trumps usually five, a singleton or void suit and not more than nine points in high cards. (Copyright, 1960)

Oscar Kuhn, first vice president, Mrs. Daniel Haase, president, Richard Bowden, Legion commander, and Rodger Rusch, first vice commander.

Don't Worry if Child Is Quiet Type, Says Patri

BY ANGELO PATRI

"How can one reach a silent child? By silent I mean one who does not talk about himself or his concerns to anyone, who stands aloof from his classmates, prefers reading, playing the piano, to playing games which the others enjoy. He is in good health, is on the honor roll in school, but somehow we cannot get to him. He does not confide in us."

When a child is in good health, doing well in school, enjoys his home, his books and his music, is pleasant to live with, why not let him alone?

We have no right to another's thoughts if he does not wish to confide in us. We have no right to invade his privacy. Trying to do so will make him uneasy, make him distrust us and avoid us. Confidence cannot be forced. What if this child has nothing to say? His reticence annoys his mother. She wants him to tell her what he is thinking about, talk it over with her, share his feelings, opinions and desires with her. That would be very pleasant if the child did so voluntarily. Otherwise nothing would come of it but more and deeper silence.

Unusual Type

Quiet people are unusual in this day of unrest. Too many people are shrill about their feelings, too much in everybody's ears, so that a reticent child stands out like a spring snowdrop. Why not enjoy the peace he sheds about him and leave him to enjoy his inner quiet?

Only when a child is withdrawn from family, home and school interests, when he has no interest in anything or anybody, just sits until somebody pulls him out of his chair and along with him to undergo forced motion, need we be alarmed. That sort of withdrawal indicates mental illness and the child should be placed under treatment as soon as possible.

The healthy child is active, and we must bear in mind that thinking is an activity, an important one. Reading, playing a musical instrument, are activities and require an output of energy surprising in its volume and power.

All boys do not want to play baseball nor do all girls want to go to parties. Many of them have other ideas, other ways of cultivating their minds and bodies, and as long as they are healthy and happy, as long as they are developing physically and mentally in normal fashion, they should be let alone and not prodded to be other than themselves.

Angelo Patri offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning child training. If you would like to have his leaflet, P-7, Convalescent Children, send 10 cents in coin to him care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

Over-Dressed Lady Falls

BY CHARLES M. CROWE

"The proud one shall stumble and fall, with none to raise him up."

— Jeremiah 50:32 (RSV)

C. F. Worth was the first of the famous French dress designers. One time he received an order from the vain wife of a diplomat. She wanted a dress that would out-dazzle that of every other woman at the palace ball. Upon completion, the train of the gown was so heavy it had to be carried for her when she went to the ball. Once inside the palace her astounding train was spread out behind her in all its glory. Then she found to her horror that she couldn't move a step! The gown was so weighted down with expensive cloth and jewelry that it chained her to the floor. Again and again she tried to walk but to no avail. Finally, in a last mighty effort, the lady fainted and fell to the floor.

Pride has a way of causing us to fall. It defeats our own ends. It lures us into standing in our own way. It weighs us down with unnecessary burdens. Instead of building us up it tears us down.

The self is a demanding God. When we enthrone it and worship it there is no end to its insatiable demands. Our vanity leads us on and on in a hopeless effort to satisfy it. In the end there's no place for anything else but our own self-will and self-glorification. We find that we can get all dressed up but we can't go anywhere. When it is too late we learn with horror that we are the victims of our own self - idolatry. There's no chance then for self-realization; much less for happiness. Only bitterness and regret because we have been too blind to see.

Read: Jeremiah 50:25-32

resented "the age-old story in left to the determination of the individual guard."

Lasee said he had assumed that an erroneous count he took over from a guard whom he relieved was accurate, and that when he noted a discrepancy, he assumed that it would be shown up a little later in a shop department count of inmates on assignments.

Other Counts

The state brought out that Lasee had been guilty of rule infractions on other occasions, and that he had been disciplined once previously.

John A. Lawton, counsel for the state employees union, got into the record the fact that new rules followed the Feb. 29 incident, including one that curtailed the freedom of movement of reporters for the institution newspaper.

Newburn was one of the house organ reporters. Skaff also conceded that any other inmate's absence would have been noted earlier through other precautions, aside from the alertness of the guard immediately in charge of his dormitory.

Lawton said his client represented "the age-old story in personnel relations. It's the guy on the bottom who gets the punishment."

First Rule.

But Charles Lubcke, the department lawyer, insisted that the issue was the simple one of Lasee's failure to report an absentee, in violation of the most elementary rules of security in a maximum security penal institution.

Witnesses included Norman Nuss, assistant superintendent, John W. McLiams, deputy, Earl Jones, chief, Virgil Schoen, Robert Kowalske, Richard Zegers and Milton Petri, guards.

Skaff insisted that his men are trained to the knowledge that the inmates under their command are their immediate and constant responsibility.

"You can imagine," he told the board, "how red my face was that a boy was missing for six hours without our knowing it."

Something Amiss

Skaff and other officers said that Lasee afterward admitted that he knew something was wrong and that he had been "dumb" about the matter.

But Lawton insisted that the institution rules governing counts are confused, and demanded that there be "standards when you penalize a man for using poor judgment."

Lubcke derided the idea of "judgment." Counting men is simple arithmetic, he reminded.

Petri reported that he has upon occasions found errors in his own count, but he also said, when pressed, that he thereupon reported to his immediate superiors.

Lasee is 39, a resident of De Pere, and has been a reformatory guard for about seven years.

Actress Found Dead in Bed

Hollywood — Death climaxed a long series of personal misfortunes Tuesday for actress Lynne Baggett.

The 32-year-old blonde was found dead in her bed. There was a quantity of pills nearby.

Police attributed her death to an overdose of medication pending outcome of an autopsy.

Her nurse, Darlene Jones, told police the actress had asked her not to come to her Hollywood apartment until late Tuesday because "she wanted to get a lot of rest."

Public Welcome

The spectators at first were only thinly spaced. But as the motorcade rode through the Paris suburbs the welcome burgeoned. Crowds were 5-deep, with many waving tiny Soviet flags. Khrushchev waved back and showed a wide grin.

The French communist party had called out its faithful for a rousing welcome. And many curious sightseers were out.

But the biggest public welcome came in the suburbs. As the official cars drove through the heart of the city to the president's elyse palace, the crowds thinned. Many of the Parisians went about their business as usual.

Some of the spectators were silent as the motorcade passed. But generally there was a buzz of greeting and some chanting of "long live peace."

Paris police estimated—probably conservatively—that the turnout totaled 80,000 persons.

a judicial inquiry into the shootings.

"The time has come," he declared, "when all those in South Africa who have any human feelings must demand that the tactics being used by the police to quell riots must cease immediately."

Bishop Reeves said he suspected police used dum dum bullets against the rioters. The bullet has an expanding nose that makes a small hole when it enters the body and leaves a large wound where it emerges.

The bishop's allegation was termed "absolute nonsense" by Brig. C. J. Els, police chief present at Sharpeville, scene of Monday's bloodiest rioting. Els said only ordinary bullets for rifles and sten guns were used.

Stay At Home

Thousands of Negro laborers stayed at home yesterday in Cape Town and Ver-eeniging, protesting the identification passes.

Hundreds of Negroes marched into police stations, pleading to be arrested for not possessing the passes they are required to carry day and night.

The original purpose of the Negro protest campaign, sponsored by the militant pan-Africanist congress, was to fill the jails to overflowing and paralyze the economy of this nation of 10 million blacks and 3 million whites. But police arrested only the ringleaders.

The government charged that African nationalist agitators turned what had been planned as a peaceful campaign into violent disorders.

Leaders of the pan-Africanist congress said more and more of their supporters would seek arrest, and that the strikes would continue until the passes were abolished.

Wanted: 10 Warm Days to Bring Cherry Blossoms

Washington — Wanted: 10 days of warm weather to bring Washington's famed cherry trees into full bloom during the cherry blossom festival April 5-10.

That sums up the blossom situation, Associate Superintendent T. Sutton Jett of national capital parks said today.

"The only thing we can say right now is that it looks quite favorable for the blooms to be out during the annual festival if we get some of the warm weather we should be having," he said.

Jett explained it takes weather with temperatures up in the 70s just about every day for 10 days or two weeks to bring out the blooms.

"Should this unusually unseasonable weather we have been having for three weeks turn springlike, the blooms should be open in all their glory in 10 days or two weeks," he said.

"The trees have most often bloomed during the first week in April. They have bloomed as late as April 17 and as early as March 15, but those are unusual extremes."

Mother, 3 Children Killed in Accident

Plant City, Fla. — A train-auto crash killed a 19-year-old mother and her three small children near here.

Mrs. Edward A. Williams, Valerie, 4, Vicky Jane, 2, and Eddie Linn, 1, were riding in a car that was dragged 200 feet by a freight train Tuesday night.

Mrs. Williams was en route to her home about a quarter mile from the tracks on the outskirts of Plant City.

No New Polio Cases

Madison — The state board of health said today no polio cases were reported to it in the week ending March 12. This left reported cases for 1960 at two, one more than in the same period of 1959.

Wisconsin Spent Two Years Planning for Conference

Citizens, Private and Government Units Prepare for Youth Meeting

Wisconsin preparation for the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth has been in process for two years.

Hundreds of citizens, and private and public agencies at local, state and national levels, have helped to lay the groundwork for the conference through three methods.

Governor-appointed committees in 50 states, three island territories, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico have worked together as the national council of state committees.

Wisconsin's work began officially with Gov. Nelson designating the Wisconsin committee on children and youth as the committee in charge. This committee has been appointed biennially by governors since 1949. It includes approximately 100 persons, 10 of whom are youths.

Committee Members

Northeastern Wisconsin members of the Wisconsin committee on children and youth appointed by Gov. Nelson are:

Mrs. Archie Butth, Shawano; Jack Frantz, Green Bay; Edgar W. Nell, Algoma; Edward S. Peterson, Crandon; Bruce Rohloff,

Third of Series

Cecil; Mrs. Sam Salan, Waupaca; R. H. Schmidt, Clintonville; the Rev. William Spalding, Green Bay; Harold G. Stewart, Shawano, and J. P. Mann, Appleton. Dr. H. Kent Tenney, Madison, past presidential of the Wisconsin State Medical society, is committee chairman.

Surveys, studies, workshops, town meetings, opinion polls and area conferences are some of the forms of fact-gathering and stimulators of public opinion used throughout the United States. Wisconsin county committees, each submitted a report on accomplishments and needs for the future to the state committee.

An adult chairman and a youth co-chairman in each county was appointed by the governor, from nominations by the district Wisconsin committee members. County committee chairmen and co-chairmen for this area were:

Mrs. M. W. Miller, Sturgeon Bay, Door county; C. A. Krohn, Crandon, and Mary Lish, Laona, Forest; Mrs. Louis Sticka, Kewaunee, and Marilyn Kollross, Luxemburg, Kewaunee; Warren Parish, Marinette, and Gerald Orlando, Wausaukee, Marinette. Mrs. James Frechette, Keshena, and Guy Keshena, Keshena, Menominee; Arthur O'Dau, Oconto Falls, and Barbara Brown, Lena, Oconto; the Rev. Carl Wilke, Appleton, Outagamie; Mrs. Archie Butth, Shawano, and Patricia Ainsworth, Shawano for Shawano county.

Official State Report

Wisconsin, as every other state, submitted an official report to the White House conference, setting forth the problems, services, achievements and unmet needs involving children and youth. Planning and study has a two-fold approach — a report of activity during the past 10 years, and an evaluation of needs for the next 10 years.

Among other things, the committee's preparation included the Governor's Conference on Children and Youth held in April 1959. With emphasis on "exploring inner space," it was

Hobby Club Contest Winners Announced

Five Fox Cities youngsters are winners of jungle erasers for the five most neatly prepared entries in the Hobby club dot puzzle contest published March 9 in the Post-Crescent.

They are Joyce Miller, 11, of 1271 S. Walnut street, Jim Bronoel, 9, of 1908 N. Alvin street, and Patricia Lee Thielman, 11, of 507 E. Summer street, all of Appleton; David Lee Meiers, 10, of 749 Racine street, Menasha, and Karen Jorgensen, 10, of 115 N. Park avenue, Neenah.

On programs for children and youth within the county for the 1950s in the fields of education, welfare, recreation, health, human rights, youth participation and delinquency.

Another function was the selection and follow-through by the county committee of an immediate goal or project that could be implemented before 1960 as related to strengthening of some local programs for children and youth.

The county committee was also assigned to participate in the 1959 Governor's Conference on Children and Youth.

Youth Participation

Youth have been included as an integral part of any project concerned with citizen participation in Wisconsin.

Youth served on the program committee for the Governor's conference. Youth co-chairmen serve on most county committees. Youth participation was evaluated in the county committee reports. There is a statewide youth committee to promote youth participation in community planning and civic affairs.

Youth members of the Wisconsin committee are preparing a series of pamphlets on Wisconsin's experience.

Kennedy Appears To Lead in State

His campaign theatricals also seem more effective. In Stoughton, one Humphrey partisan talked of how pleased his wife was to meet Mrs. Humphrey at an informal tea.

Then he added glumly, "But there were three women in the Kennedy family holding tea parties the same day."

In contrast, only two-thirds of the Protestant voters to whom I talked favor Humphrey over Kennedy. In the cities the proportion for Kennedy runs much heavier than in rural areas. Nearly half of all the urban Protestants interviewed echoed one Janesville woman, who declared, "A man's religion doesn't mean anything in this day and age."

As the campaigning intensifies, Protestant solidarity may stiffen. An Eau Claire rubber worker declared, "They say religion shouldn't make any difference. But one side is pushing Kennedy awful hard. I'll go for Humphrey."

Young Favor Kennedy

Kennedy is weak with Protestant factory workers, who think Humphrey "would be better for labor," and with older Protestant voters, many of whom see Kennedy as "too inexperienced" to be President.

But among the younger Protestant voters to whom I talked — those under 35 — two out of three were going for Kennedy.

Their feelings were summed up by one Lutheran housewife in Sheboygan, who declared, "Kennedy stands for young America, and we're young Americans."

On the whole, Kennedy's youthfulness emerges as a considerable political asset.

Another Kennedy advantage is his being confused with his brother, Robert, who was counsel for the senate committee investigating labor racketeering. Even well-educated persons admit they are not clear which Kennedy brother they admire. One University of Wisconsin graduate shrugged off this perplexity, saying, "They're brothers. They must share the same philosophy."

The senate labor investigation is often cited as evidence that "Kennedy is a fighter" or "he's not for any special interest."

Religion Is Issue

Actually Humphrey is not the issue. It is Kennedy — and his religion — that most people are voting for or against.

Humphrey's hopes for upsetting Kennedy would seem to hinge on two factors: First, many voters, who are still undecided between the candidates, might be won over in the two weeks of campaigning before April 5. Then, since there is no Republican contest, large numbers of Republicans might vote in the Democratic primary.

Most Wisconsin Republicans are Protestants and many whom I interviewed oppose a Catholic president. Should enough of these Protestant Republicans cross over into the Democratic primary, the influence of the Catholic Republicans swinging for Kennedy could be neutralized.

(Copyright, 1960) (Tomorrow: Nixon vs. Kennedy.)

ists in Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha. Some Catholic families are split by the issue, with the wives feeling "Kennedy has a nicer personality" and their husbands declaring, "Kennedy is just a big wheel."

But the net result is that more votes are gained than lost by the "labor record" of the Kennedy brothers.

With Humphrey, the most frequently voiced comments in his favor are that "he's from the middle west" and "he's more for the common people." But a surprisingly large number of voters say, "I really know nothing about him" or, "I haven't read up on him yet."

Another Kennedy advantage is his being confused with his brother, Robert, who was counsel for the senate committee investigating labor racketeering. Even well-educated persons admit they are not clear which Kennedy brother they admire. One University of Wisconsin graduate shrugged off this perplexity, saying, "They're brothers. They must share the same philosophy."

The senate labor investigation is often cited as evidence that "Kennedy is a fighter" or "he's not for any special interest."

Grumblings that "Kennedy would be against labor" are voiced by ardent union-

Cherry Dumplings Pastry Suggestion

If you're looking for pastry suggestions, here's one for cherry dumplings that should go over big.

Place one can of red sour cherries and the juice, with one-half cup sugar in a covered sauce pan. Bring to simmering point.

Take two cups of flour and sift, measure and sift again with four teaspoons of baking powder and one teaspoon of salt. Cut into this mixture one-fourth cup of lard until the mixture has a fine even crumb. Now add another three-fourths cup of sugar and three-fourths cup of milk to make a soft dough.

Drop by tablespoons over the cherry sauce. Cover and allow to steam 25 minutes. Serve hot or cold with cream.

UW Summer School Registration Improved

Students May Register by Mail for 4-Week,
8-Week and 10-Week Instruction Sessions

Madison — The 75th anniversary summer sessions at the University of Wisconsin, June 20 - Aug. 12, will be marked by improved registration procedures, special programs, new credit - load requirements, and slightly higher fees, according to Director L. H. Adolfson.

Council to Act On Contracts For New School

Residents Ask Chance to Protest Driveway Plan

Neenah — Action on the contracts for the new junior high school is scheduled for a special meeting of the common council at 7:30 tonight. The school board last week recommended to the council the net low bidders to whom contracts are to be awarded. However, a group of residents on Campbell street immediately south of the school site has asked to appear at this evening's meeting to protest the driveway layout for the new junior high school. They favor the original plan of a turnaround at the north end of the street in the junior high property instead of a 15-foot driveway which would cross from Campbell street to Oak street with added room for about 15 to 18 parking stalls for teachers. The residents, who have retained an attorney, are asking that the awarding of the contracts be delayed until the driveway matter can be settled.

Neenah Plans Board Approves Zoning Change

Neenah — The plans commission Tuesday night voted to recommend to the council the rezoning of the property along Baldwin street just south of Winneconne avenue from single family home to local shopping. The land to be rezoned includes five lots on the east side of Baldwin street and the unplatted land across the street between Baldwin street and the slough. The council last week set April 6 as the hearing date on the rezoning request. A petition for rezoning two parcels of property at 873 and 877 Maple street, has been withdrawn by the petitioners, Phil Brill and John Blaha.

Take No Action on Inspector's Report On Bank Building

Mayor May Buy New Survey; Inspector Terms Unit Antiquated

Menasha — An unfavorable report on the condition of the First National Bank building, which will become a city office building when a new bank is built was distributed Tuesday night at a city council committee of the whole meeting.

No action was taken on the report, prepared by Allen E. Merrill, city building, heating and plumbing inspector. It points to antiquated electrical, heating and plumbing systems in the bank building, built in 1916.

Mayor R. G. DuCharme, said he, at his own expense, will hire another building inspector to offer his report on the building. DuCharme was a major backer of the proposal to sell the Racine street park, site of the old high school, to the bank, which will construct a new building and possibly a shopping center there. In return, the city was to receive $7,500 net cash and the bank building.

No Rent on Building
In the agreement between city and bank, there is no provision for the city to receive rent from the bank during the time its new building is under construction, a period of about one year. The city will own the bank as of April 1. The mayor contends the bank will pay interest on the $37,000 sale price of the park site.

Merrill's report, based on an inspection made Friday by himself and Walter P. Girard, an electrical distribution supervisor of the water and light commission, noted that:

Electric service provisions are inadequate. "The fuse boxes are outdated and the wiring in the boxes is strung very carelessly about like a plate of spaghetti. There are also some bare connections about." Girard recommended new service entering through the back of the building. The lighting is very poor and dim with the use of electric machines. Some more wiring would be necessary inside the building also.

Furnace About 30 Years Old
"The furnace is around 30 years old and its (useful) life could not be determined unless it was taken down and inspected. It might break down next year or it might last another 30 years. The burner is... around 25 years old."

Found Innocent Of Topsy Driving
Oshkosh — John J. Freund, 41, route 2, Neenah, was found innocent of drunken driving by a municipal court jury Tuesday afternoon.

He had been arrested by the state highway patrol on Dec. 4 on Highway 41, just south of the junction of Highway 45 in the town of Neenah. At his arraignment on Dec. 11, Freund pleaded innocent.

Promises Action on Sewer Backups When Survey Completed

Noth, Merrill Make Preliminary Report on Eastern Third Ward Storm Water Problem

Menasha — Mayor R. G. DuCharme promised Third ward residents who attended Tuesday night's city council committee of the whole meeting that the city will take action to correct sewer backups when the city wide sewer inspection is completed.

City Engineer M. J. Noth and Allen E. Merrill, building, plumbing and heating inspector, delivered a preliminary report on inspection of the eastern Third ward. Some homes, yards and other buildings are running storm water off through sanitary sewers. As a result the 18-inch Keyes street sewer becomes surcharged, or overfilled, very soon after a rain or thaw, less it was taken down and inspected. It might break down next year or it might last another 30 years. The burner is... around 25 years old.

Other Locations
Noth noted other locations in the city have high sewer loads in high runoff periods, and again advised halting the storm water's entry into the sanitary sewers. As far back as 1940, the state board of health and the Neenah-Menasha sewerage commission have been urging the two cities to require storm water to go through storm sewers which will better be able to handle the loads.

Until the surface runoff water problem is corrected, the mayor added, the city should not do anything about a proposal to allow the town of Menasha to hook its proposed sewer lines to the city system. The town's estimated contribution would be about 28,500 gallons daily, based on present population, he said.

New Park Land
Land along Little Lake Butte des Morts north of the sewage disposal plant will be surveyed.

Issues Permits For Four Homes

Neenah — Permits for four new homes were issued Tuesday and today by Building Inspector Carlton F. Williams, bringing the total authorized this year to 24 houses.

Lieber Lumber company took out a permit for a $14,000 house on Alcott drive which will be 1 1/2 stories high and 24 by 28 feet.

It also secured a permit for a $14,000 home, 28 by 43 feet, and an attached garage, 16 by 24 feet, to be built on Maple street. George Haber was granted a permit for a $15,000 home and attached garage on Edgewood drive. The house will be two stories high and 26 by 32 feet and the garage will be 21 by 22 feet.

The fourth new home permit was issued to Donald Gehrt for a $10,000 home, 26 by 42 feet, on Quarry lane.

It's a Woman's World', Lady Banker Tells AAUW Members

Neenah — "It's a woman's world," she reported. Compare the type of economical marketing assistant cashier and head of the women's department at First National Bank, Oshkosh told Neenah-Menasha branch of American Association of University Women members Tuesday.

When a baby boy is born, the question asked is "how is the mother?" When he marries, the exclamations are about the beautiful bride. When he dies, the question is "how much did he leave her?"

The man who said "a woman's place is in the home" didn't reckon with history, said Miss Laetke. He didn't foresee the current saying, "Never underestimate the power of a woman."

Speaking on "The College Woman in Business," Miss Laetke said in the banking profession as a whole women outnumber men two to one. "Heaven and the law denied women to know much about money for centuries." Today women usually are better at the spending money than men.

Not Competitive Women need not be competitive in the business world, rather they complement the work of men. "Each has special talents, each can excel," World War II sent thousands of women out to work and many of them never returned to staying at home, she said. It gave women an opportunity to learn more about money matters.

"The fabulous American female is capable of many wonderful feats." Today more are continuing their education, are marrying younger, having children at a younger age and household help is declining, she listed.

Pointing out that one-third of all employees are women, Miss Laetke said, "Many women go from KP to VIP everyday." They are leading double lives. Saying that the mature woman is coming into her own in the working field, the businesswoman stated one-half of women workers are 39 years old or older.

There are now 22 1/2 million women in the nation's working force and it is estimated there will be more than 33 million women in the labor force by 1975, she said. About three million women workers have children under six years of age.

Clerical Workers She reported that two out of every three women workers are clerical staff members, and while professional women rank fourth. "Women college graduates mainly are in professional or technical work." Because of women, the labor force is much more elastic than before.

The fairly new idea of the American family with two paychecks is increasing, she said. One result is increased home ownership. "Too long we have heard jokes about how father earns the money and mother spends it. Now mother helps earn it."

The influence of women in the retail field is seen with 80 per cent of all advertising slanted toward women, she listed. Women form more than 50 per cent of the stockholders in the county and are the beneficiaries of over 80 per cent of insurance policies.

Interested in joining the class may contact Miss Leonee Bo-vee, homemaking coordinator, on her recent trip to the Middle East.

Vote Party Ticket, Says Mrs. Krohn Oshkosh — "It is wrong for Republicans to enter the Democratic primary," Mrs. Norris Krohn, vice chairman of the state Republican organization, told 100 Republican women and their guests gathered to hear Mrs. Emory C. Johnson, Republican national committeewoman from Arizona, at Oshkosh Tuesday.

Mrs. Krohn's admonishment preceded Mrs. Johnson's talk on the Republican's "Recruit for '60" campaign. "I have been asked who Republicans should vote for in the Democratic primary. I urge you to vote April 5 for the Republican presidential candidate. Give him a vote of confidence."

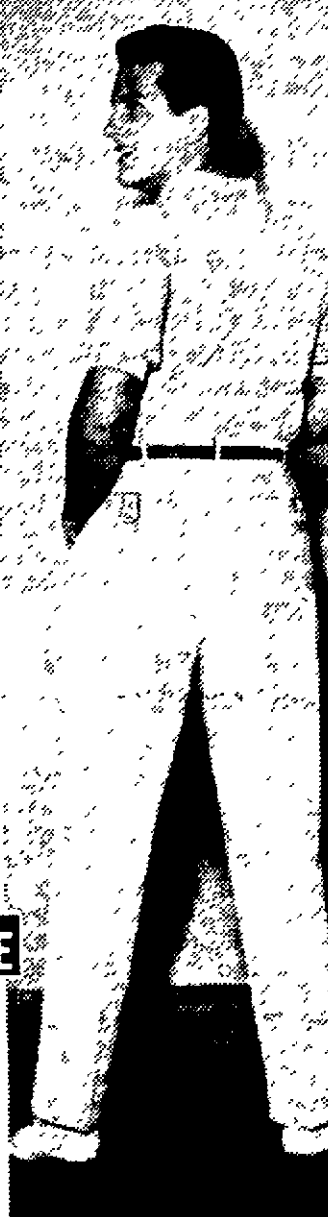

Feeling that it is wrong for Democrats to enter the Democratic primary, she suggested voters examine the two Democratic candidates' records and they would find no difference.

Secondly, for psychological reasons Republicans should vote. "By staying at home and not voting, it makes the election look like no contest and indicates a sweeping Democratic victory again."

"Lend your moral support to Nixon," she urged.

Marriage Licenses Oshkosh — Marriage license applications have been filed in County Clerk Nell Hoffmann's office by Wayne J. Matsche, 1206 W. Eleventh Avenue, Oshkosh, and Angelina M. Nieman, 1833 Minnesota street, Oshkosh.

GOP Leader

Urges Political Foot-Wetting, Criticizes COPE

Oshkosh — Urging political foot-wetting, Mrs. Emery C. Johnson, Republican national committeewoman from Arizona, stepped up the Wisconsin Republican "Recruit for '60" campaign at a Tuesday noon luncheon here.

Speaking before about 100 Republican women and guests at the Legion club, Mrs. Johnson, who is one of three members of the national "Recruit for '60" committee, which is headed by Wisconsin's Claude Jasper, cited Arizona's "apron influence" in the 1958 campaign in which Senator Barry Goldwater was re-elected in the face of violent opposition.

"I am not a politician. I am a housewife with a degree in archeology from the University of Arizona. But I, along with other Arizona women, had to face fundamentals and decide that what the country needed, among other things, was women to become interested in government."

"We want the United States to continue as a bulwark of liberty, to guarantee the freedom of the individual along with our free enterprise economy and a balanced budget with reduced taxes in the future and educational opportunities for all children," she said.

"Public office is a sacred trust held without fear or favor of special groups. So we had to roll up our sleeves to protect what we were losing."

Her statement of pride in the Republican administration of prosperity, which has kept the peace with honor, and her asking for God's blessing on President Eisenhower brought applause from her listeners.

A Democratic victory in 1960 would jeopardize the future, Mrs. Johnson feels. To this end the Committee on Political Education (COPE) has bent its efforts.

"The 1958 election proved that to elect a Democrat today, the voter has to accept COPE dictation, which has millions of dollars to throw into a campaign. The Republican party is smaller and has the least money," she insisted.

Terming the Republican vote in 1958 "disgraceful," Mrs. Johnson mitigated the sharpness of her indictment by pointing out that the Wisconsin Republican voting record was better than the national average.

COPE Planning

Meanwhile COPE did a "bang-up" job, planning for years ahead of the 1958 elections. George Meany, she said, threatened in 1956 to "liberalize Congress in 1958." And at the 1958 Miami labor convention a purge list of 12 United States senators was issued. All later received "heavily fire" from COPE including Sen. Goldwater.

"The outcome is well known," Mrs. Johnson went on. "COPE financed and worked for 185 members of the house and 32 members of the Senate. (All but two of the senators and two of the representatives were Democrats.) Elected were 183 of the representatives and 25 of the senators. The election results show how diligent and unrelenting COPE worked."

She illustrated how COPE's precinct level campaign

AAUW Elects 5 Officers

Neenah — Mrs. John Bletzinger was elected new president of Neenah - Menasha branch of American Association of University Women Tuesday at the YWCA.

Other officers are Mrs. Carl Schleck, first vice president; Mrs. John Helms, second vice president; Mrs. Ronald McMurry, secretary; Mrs. Owen Hanson, treasurer; and Mrs. Lynn Miller, assistant treasurer.

Named as delegates to the regional convention April 22-23 in Milwaukee were Mrs. Robert Schwieter, Mrs. Bletzinger, Mrs. Schleck, Mrs. Helms, Mrs. McMurry and Mrs. LeRoy Peterson. Alternates will be Mrs. R. H. Quade and Mrs. Hans Hefti.

Guests at the program were Mrs. Milton Gaertner, incumbent member of the Menasha school board and candidate for re-election and Mrs. Hugh Moore, candidate for school commissioner in Neenah.

The two candidates spoke briefly and were introduced as part of AAUW's "status of women" program area. The branch voted to send a letter to Gov. Nelson urging that a woman be appointed to the university board of regents.

worked. Workers were hired to get out the labor vote, while Republicans stayed home and lost by default, which, she insists, could lose the two-party system for the American voter.

Mrs. Johnson read the newly published COPE list of legislators to be purged in the 1960 campaign. The list includes eight Republican senators — Bridges of New Hampshire, Allott of Colorado, Curtis of Nebraska, Dvorak of Idaho, Mundt of South Dakota, Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Martin of Iowa, and Schoeppel of Kansas — and four Democrats — Fear of Delaware, Robertson of Virginia, McClellan of Arkansas and Thurmond of South Carolina.

This is why the Republicans decided on a national level to conduct a "Recruits for '60" campaign, to work at the precinct level. It has been proven a winner even in Democratic states as late as December, 1959, in Iowa, she concluded.

Vice President

Asked about Goldwater's possible candidacy for vice president, Mrs. Johnson answered, "Many think he'd be wonderful. The question will be aired at the Arizona state convention. But the final answer is Goldwater's. So far he has said no. But we think he'd be good for America."

Marion Behlendorf, president of the Winnebago county Republican Women's federation, introduced guests at the luncheon, including Mrs. C. C. Schroeder, vice chairman of the 7th district; Alma Young, vice chairman from Sheboygan county, and Mrs. Ben Harp, president of the Sheboygan Women's federation; Bernice Carver, vice chairman of Winnebago county; Elmer Steinhilber, 6th district chairman; Rufus K. Schriber, state finance chairman; Robert Wollangk, Winnebago county chairman; Mrs. Norris Krohn, state vice chairman; and Mrs. Byron Ising, Wisconsin national committeewoman.

One of the Colored Prints by Dolph Rieser, well-known painter-engraver, now being displayed at the John Nelson Bergstrom Art center and museum is his "Two Birds." The exhibit opens today and will run through April 13 with the art center being open Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Museum to Show Prints By Famed Artist-Engraver

Neenah — An unusual exhibition of 40 colored prints on the edge of the richest area of Bushman rock painting. This has been an influence in much of Rieser's best work.

Masters Are He was educated in Switzerland, where he secured a doctorate in biology from the University of Lausanne, Munich and Paris. In Paris in the 1890's he came under the influence of Joseph Hecht, founder and master of modern engraving, and his true development began.

By 1939 he had become a master of the art of engraving and was exhibiting and selling prints to leading galleries and institutions in Europe and the United States. His work with the brush is as important as his work with the graver and the latter has gained from his practice in a medium where color predominates, Brooks said.

He has had 1-man shows in London, Paris and Spain and has exhibited extensively in group shows in Europe and the United States. His prints have been acquired by the Victoria and Albert museum in London, the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris and the Rosenwald collection in New York.

He is a member of the Royal Society of Etchers, Painters and Engravers of London and the Artist International association.

The Bergstrom Art Center and Museum, 165 N. Park avenue, is open without charge from 1 to 6 p.m. on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays.

Census Takers Training to Last 3 Days

Enumerators to Learn Duties Prior To Making Rounds

Neenah — Census takers who will visit every dwelling unit in the area beginning April 1 for the 1960 census of population and housing will participate in three training sessions next week, Walter B. Wigton, district supervisor, said today.

Training sessions, conducted by the crew leaders, will be held March 28, 29 and 30. Each census taker is to receive a total of approximately nine hours of instruction.

Emphasis will be placed on the importance of a systematic, thorough canvass of every dwelling unit during the census to insure a complete count. Classroom training will cover proper manner of asking questions, use of the census questionnaire, census definitions and map reading.

Map Reading

Map reading is an important census taking technique, without maps, defining the limits of each district to which a census taker is assigned, the job would be a welter of confusion. About 250,000 maps have been prepared for the 1960 census. This provides an individual map for each of the 250,000 districts into which the country has been divided for the census.

Every census taker will be furnished with a map of his district. As they make their rounds, census takers will be required to canvass every street and road and visit every housing unit within the area shown on the maps.

Billion-Dollar Sales Record In Paper Field

International Firm 13 Per Cent Over '59, But Earnings Drop

International Paper company last year became the first paper company to go over a billion dollars in annual sales.

The giant paper company's sales last year totaled $1,030,208,695, up 13 per cent over last year's sales of $915,142,983, John R. Hines, chairman, and Richard C. Doane, president, announced. The previous sales high was $969,618,000 in 1956.

Earnings last year, however, fell short of record levels. They totaled $83,610,673, or $6.21 a share, 16 per cent above 1958 earnings of $72,000,000, or $5.35 a share, but lagging behind 1956 and 1955.

The report stated that the company expects the upward trend in consumption of paper to continue through 1960.

Production Totals
In 1959, International produced 4,734,240 tons of paperboard, paper and market pulp, about 400,000 tons more than in 1958. Of the 1959 production, some 2 million tons were bleached and unbleached paperboard, and a million tons were newsprint.

The company produced 266,000 board feet of lumber last year, 217,000 square feet of plywood and veneer, and 91,000 square feet of insulating board. All were up substantially from 1958 production.

This year a new 50,000-ton-a-year machine to produce telephone directory and lightweight catalogue papers which will begin operating in the Pine Bluff, Ark., mill and capacity of the Ticonderoga, N.Y., mill, which produces fine printing papers, will be increased.

New Plants
A lumber mill and plywood plant at Chelatchie, Wash., is expected to be operating this summer, replacing the company's Longview, Wash., installation.

130 Adult, Junior 4-H Leaders Told of Program

Oshkosh — Approximately 130 leaders and junior leaders met in the courthouse lounge room Monday night for their annual early spring leaders meeting. One of the highlights of the program was a discussion of the importance of junior and adult leader planning on a local club level.

Mrs. Walter Wood, route 2, Oshkosh, a 10-year leader, commented about her role as a 4-H leader and mentioned some of the things her club is doing in giving their junior leaders responsibility.

Sue Romme, route 4, Oshkosh, president of the junior leader group, outlined her opinions on the role of a junior leader to enable that mill to produce a more diversified line of bleached and unbleached kraft papers and board is expected to be operating late this year, the report stated.

The company is pushing development of sandwich panels made of plywood laid on corrugated paperboard cores for use in prefabricating building.

agent, spoke on the home economics leader training meetings for new clothing leaders set for 1:15 p.m. on March 31 at the courthouse lounge.

She said a home furnishings leaders meeting, originally set for April 5, will be postponed to a later date. On April 7 will be a meeting for leaders in the foods project, "It's Fun to Cook," at 8 p.m. at the Winneconne Central school.

Clarence Westfahl, 4-H club leader, urged leaders to start planning now for county camp which is scheduled for June. He told of the speaking contest on May 12 at the courthouse. The county 4-H and FFA demonstration contest is set for May 2 at the Winneconne central school. Both of these events involve some preparation, he said.

Humphrey Quit Labor, Attorney Tells Council

David Rabinovitz Addresses Trade Unit at Green Bay

Green Bay — A charge that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey deserted labor when he voluntarily stepped off the labor committee of the U. S. senate was made before the Green Bay Trades council at the Labor temple Tuesday night.

It was a statement of David Rabinovitz, attorney for labor unions in Sheboygan county and state treasurer of the Wisconsin Democratic party.

At the same time, Rabinovitz said Sen. John Kennedy who also is seeking Democratic nomination for president along with Humphrey has been a member of the committee for 14 years and has voted for and protected the rights of labor.

"It would have been just as easy for Kennedy to leave this committee as Humphrey did because it is a tough committee in that whatever you do you are subject to criticism by both labor and management," Rabinovitz said.

He noted that proponents of Humphrey have been designating the Landrum-Griffin bill as Kennedy's bill and are blaming him for its enactment. All the senators, including Humphrey, with the exception of two voted for this bill, Rabinovitz noted.

Rabinovitz claimed Humphrey could have been of invaluable service to labor if he would have stayed on the senate labor committee, as Kennedy did.

Possible Big Vote Expected

UW Study Team Predicts Contest Will Draw Ballots

Madison — A University of Wisconsin team of political scientists predicts the state's April 5 presidential primary could bring a total vote comparable to the record 1,018,149 cast in 1952.

"If the voter perceives the contest between Sen. John Kennedy and Sen. Hubert Humphrey as being as dramatic as that waged in 1952," Prof. James R. Donoghue wrote in a primary research paper today, "a turnout comparable in size to that year could result in 1960."

Donoghue heads the university's bureau of government. He was aided in the study by Stanley A. Zuckerman, a project assistant.

Two-Thirds Vote
"In 1952, the dramatic 3-way contest within the Republican party between supporters of Robert Taft, Harold Stassen, and Earl Warren resulted in better than a three to one margin for the Republican primary over the 1-man Sen. Estes Kefauver Democratic primary," Donoghue said.

The total primary vote that year was about two-thirds of the general election vote, or 1,108,149 to 1,601,919.

Donoghue said the figures indicated "the party in which the most dramatic contest is underway will attract the major share of votes cast."

Kennedy and Humphrey are opponents in the Democratic primary. Vice President Richard M. Nixon is unchallenged on the Republican side.

High Mark
"It must be kept in mind that 1952 was the high water mark of voter participation in general elections, as well as in recent presidential primaries, in Wisconsin's history," said Donoghue, "whether 1960 is another 1952 remains to be seen."

A comparison of voter turnout figures for 1952 and 1956 bolsters Donoghue's prediction. With Kefauver and President Eisenhower unopposed in their respective primaries in 1956, the vote total dropped about a quarter million to 766,497.

Peck, this morning, pleaded guilty and entry of judgment was set for 10 a.m., April 22.

Former Menasha Girl's Book Appears in April Magazine

"I Love You, Honey, But the Season's Over," a former Menasha girl's book about her experience with Ringling Brothers' circus is condensed in the April Reader's Digest.

Connie Clausen, author of the book published by Henry Holt and company, attended Menasha High school before joining the circus when she was 17. She was a high school freshman in 1941, the year her parents moved to Florida.

After her first day with the circus, Miss Clausen spent five days in bed, under a doctor's care, her book tells. Vir-

we leave Chicago, you're gonna get the I-love-you-honey-but-the-season's-over treatment the day the show closes." The friend was right. At the first stop after Chicago, Connie and her suitor agreed to put aside all thoughts of marriage.

The title also is Miss Clausen's comment on circus life.

Lawrence Says Moral, Legal Aspects of Race Issue Differ

Rulings Based On Contested
14th Amendment

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida has just emphasized an old conflict in principle between what's lawful and what's "morally right." He says any company that invites the public to trade in its stores can lawfully segregate one section for certain customers, but that such a practice is "morally wrong."

Custom and tradition have long influenced human behavior and, when a majority decides that custom shall be broken, it either brings this about voluntarily or imposes its will by law. The Florida governor is within his prerogatives in trying to persuade his fellow citizens that they should break with tradition and custom, but he is wise in adding that it is lawful for them to maintain their individual rights.

Many owners of chain stores might agree with Gov. Collins that, once they open their doors to the public, they should open all departments on the same basis to everybody. But that isn't the real difficulty. The store owners are dealing with the deep-seated convictions of their customers.

Moral And Legal Aspects
Can those customs be broken down by public agitation and by demonstrations that are provocative of counter-demonstrations, or can they better be adjusted to change by calm discussions and bi-racial conferences of citizens? These are the fundamental issues.

The problem has many potentialities for friction. All individual rights and customs could be brushed aside if the sole criterion is whether the individual or his home or his place of business happens to be related to a government salary, a tax exemption, or some other governmental privilege.

The conflict between what is sometimes called morally right or wrong and what's being termed legally right or wrong was apparent in the momentous decision of the U. S. Supreme court in 1954 which overturned the "separate but equal" doctrine in public-school facilities for all races. Lawyers have often spoken of the desegregation ruling as "the right decision for the wrong reasons." This means segregation may be morally wrong but the court gave "psychology" rather than legal reasons for reversing previous decisions.

Forced Southern Approval

Was it morally or legally right for the congress in 1867 and 1868 to send military forces into the state legislatures of the south and compel them to ratify the 14th amendment? Yet this is the amendment that has formed the basis for the desegregation decisions of the supreme court. The compulsion occurred two years after the war was over and the southern states had been accepted into the union.

It has always been the duty of the secretary of state to issue a proclamation when a constitutional amendment has been duly ratified. Yet Secretary of State Seward, in his proclamation of July 20, 1868, said, in effect, that the 14th amendment could be regarded as ratified if legislatures of six southern states could be considered to be legally constituted, and if Ohio and New Jersey, which changed their minds, were bound by their original resolution of approval. This expression of doubt caused congress to pass a joint resolution the next day declaring the 14th amendment as adopted and directing the secretary of state to promulgate it as legal.

Congress has no power to say what constitutional amendments have been legally adopted, or to order the secretary of state to declare an amendment ratified if he has legal doubts about it. This is a function of the supreme court. It was both "legally wrong" and "morally wrong" for the 14th amendment to be proclaimed as legally ratified after the southern legislatures had been coerced.

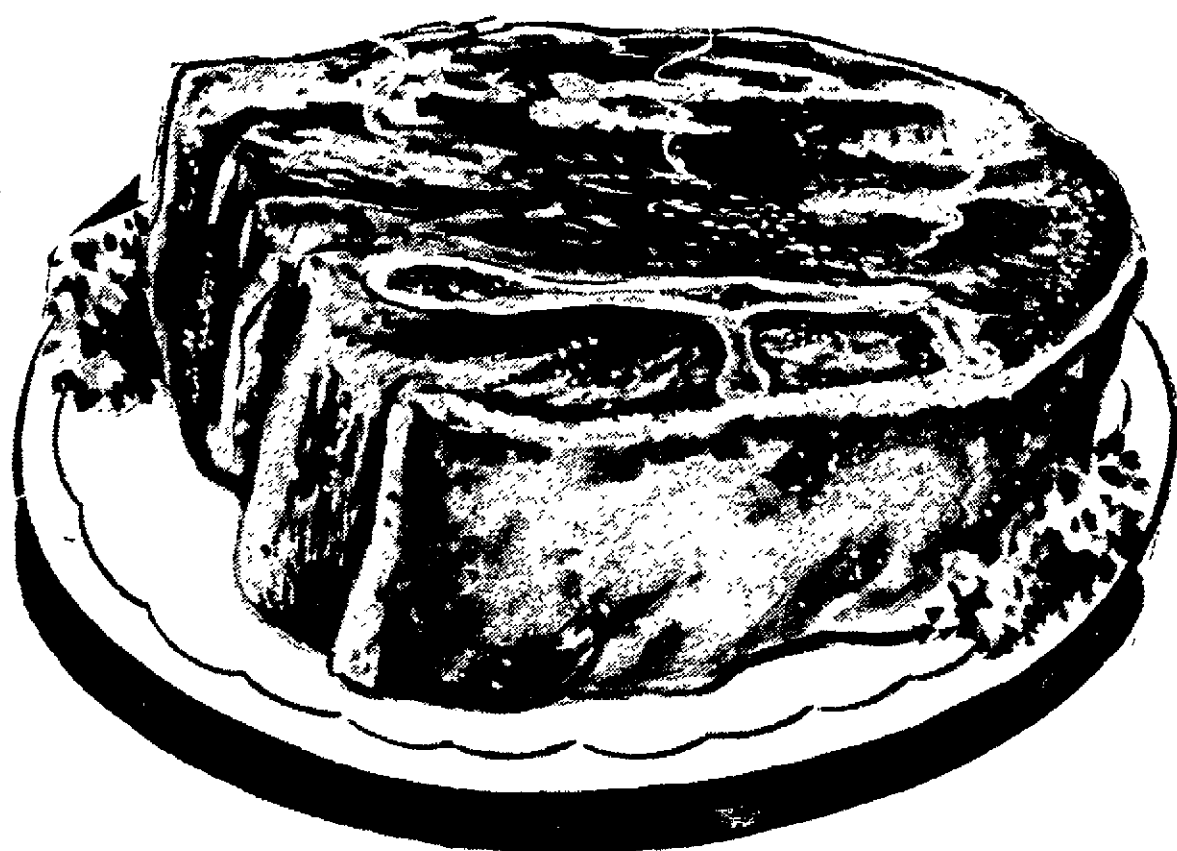

The supreme court, which is supposed to decide legal controversies, has consistently refused from that day to this to pass upon the constitutionality of the actual process by which the 14th amendment was allegedly ratified

Plastic Missile Launchers

Go to Five Contest Winners

BY CAPPY DICK

How many animal heads can you find in the tangle of lines to the right?

If you can find them all (here's a hint: there are more than four), you may become the winner of a hit-em missile launcher, the new Cappy Dick prize offered for the first time today.

The missile launcher is made of colorful plastic. It comes equipped with two plastic missiles which fit over the barrel of the launcher. When you have loaded the launcher, all you have to do is strike it firmly with your fist and air pressure within the launcher will cause the missile to pop forward at great speed. After you have fired one missile, immediately load the launcher with the second missile and fire again.

Five missile launchers will be given away as the prizes in today's contest, one to each boy or girl who sends in one of the five most neatly prepared correct contest entries.

The picture puzzle is fun to solve. Hidden in the many lines of the drawing are the heads of various animals. Study the picture carefully from all angles. As you find a head, outline it or color it neatly with pencil, crayons or paints. When you believe you have found all the heads, clip out the picture, paste it on a sheet of paper or a postal card, print your name, age and address beneath it and mail it before Friday midnight to Cappy Dick at the Appleton Post-Crescent.

Kingpin Louis B. Mayer Subject of Biography

Critic Recreates Hollywood's Vanishing Era of Big Studios

BY BOB THOMAS
AP TV-Movie Writer

Hollywood —A— Students of Hollywood history are now afforded a full-length view of the late Louis B. Mayer, just at the time the empire he helped build appears to be crumbling.

Mayer, kingpin of the big-studio era, is the subject of a new biography, "Hollywood Rajah," by Bosley Crowther. The New York Times film critic has done a thorough and often fascinating study of the onetime boss of MGM, an almost unbelievable figure whose likes will never again be seen in this town.

The book has one limitation. The author has as much distaste for Mayer as did Sam Goldwyn, who is quoted on Mayer's last rites: "The reason so many people showed up at his funeral was because they wanted to make sure he was dead."

Crowther's dislike of Mayer is such that he neglects the film titan's great achievement. Mayer was vain, in-temperate, corny and uninformed, but he still created more stars than any film-maker in history.

Discovers Stars

The book touches on this only briefly. But it does mention a 1937 trip to Europe during which Mayer uncovered such names as Greer Garson, Ilona Massey and Hedy Lamarr.

Some of the other things you can learn from "Hollywood Rajah" —

Mayer was a fighter, literally. He once punched Erich von Stroheim for observing that all women are prostitutes. He knocked Charlie Chaplin over a potted palm in a dispute about Mayer's signing of the comic's estranged wife, Mildred Harris. He wrestled Walter Wanger to a no-decision when the latter tried to borrow Myrna Loy from MGM.

Mayer had a faulty memory for loyalty. His first big break in the movie business came when he persuaded Francis X. Bushman to star in a serial. He later blistered the veteran actor unmercifully for allegedly trying to steal "Ben-Hur" scenes from inexperienced Ramon Novarro. Still later, the producer had Bushman boycotted in films for a minor social misunderstanding.

Organizes Academy

Mayer was the first to suggest an organization of the top creators of the film business. The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences resulted. There is evidence Mayer tried to use the academy as a "company union" to combat the guilds that were abhorring him.

Mayer was jealous of his reputation as a ladies' man. One of his major romances was with a young actress at another studio. When she married an agent, Mayer tried vainly to have him barred from business with any studio. The producer's pursuit of Ginny Simms was so arduous that he played the constant stage door Johnny while she ap-

Tri-City Scouts Plan Emergency Training Session

Seventy Boy Scout patrols from the Tri-City district of the Valley council have registered for a "Training for Trouble" session at 7 p. m. Saturday at Madison Junior High school.

Scouts will be given practical problems in first aid treatment for shock, burns, poisoning, broken bones and lacerations.

The training session also will stress methods of getting help in case of emergencies and improvement of scouts' ability to send, remember and correctly repeat emergency messages.

Arrangements for the session are being made by Charles DeYoung, Richard Loesch, Ray Ranier, Robert Frailing, Thomas Frayley, John Kurtyka, Fred Sorell and T. A. Howells, chairman of the Valley council health and safety committee.

About 650 scouts and guests attended the training session last year.

Negotiations to Start With Film Producers

Hollywood —A— The striking Screen Actors guild resumes negotiations Thursday with the Association of Motion Picture Producers.

At issue is the actors' demand for a share of profits from the sale of post-1948 movies to television.

The producers offered to revive talks Tuesday after the guild actors accused them of stalling negotiations in the 17-day-old strike and threatened to seek federal mediation.

Attic Theatre To End Season With Satire

Four performances of Peter Ustinov's genial satire on romantic love and cold-war diplomacy, "Romanoff and Juliet," will round out Attic Theatre's first winter season in the Lawrence College Music-Drama center, Appleton.

The play will be staged in Stansbury auditorium at 8:15 p. m. Saturday and Sunday and Friday and Saturday, April 1 and 2.

The action of the play takes place in a European country, inside the American and Russian embassies and in the street between them.

It's a mythological country, so small that the army consists of two footsoldiers and a general who also is president. It's a tranquil country, where the only excitement comes from celebrating impossible frequent independence days—until Romanoff meets Juliet.

They are the son and daughter of the Russian and American ambassadors. When they fall in love, it's a "diplomatic earthquake," to quote the general who has been shuttling back and forth between embassies trying to prevent his country's entanglement with either East or West. These scenes provide, Chaplins in the New York Daily News said of the Broadway production, "a hilarious cartoon of diplomacy."

Famed Fritz Kreisler, 85, says his durability is "a present from God." The violinist was badly wounded in World War I, nearly killed by an auto in 1941, had a serious case of appendicitis in 1946 and has undergone two major operations since 1950. His hearing and sight also have failed.

New Way of Life for Cardinals-Designate

Can't Ride Taxis, Shop in Stores or Walk Alone Through Streets of City

Vatican City —A— A new way of life begins March 28 for seven cardinals-designate of the Roman Catholic church. On that day the seven—including prelates from Africa, the Philippines, Japan, France and The Netherlands—don the purple. They become princes of the church. But they give up some old liberties.

They can no longer ride taxis or streetcars (at will, shop in the stores or walk alone through city streets. The restrictions are outlined in 19 articles of church law.

These regulations specify that the cardinal must have "a personal conveyance," taken in modern times to mean a good automobile. The cardinal must have a chauffeur.

No Taxis
In normal circumstances, he must not ride in taxis, streetcars or buses. He can, however, travel on trains or airplanes.

When he goes forth afoot, he must be accompanied by his secretary or some clergyman. He must wear plain black robes with no visible insignia of his rank.

He should not mix in crowds or enter crowded places. These rules, particularly in the United States where the clergy's way of life is more liberal than in Rome, are left in some part to the cardinal's own discretion.

But they are intended to impress upon him the necessity of maintaining princely dignity.

Even in Rome, some cardinals stretch the rules a bit. One elderly cardinal likes to stroll alone evenings along the Tiber. He does so at times

Sistine Chapel On TV First Time April 1

'Person to Person' Show to Include Views of Murals

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

New York —A— The east part of getting the first TV cameras inside the Vatican's Sistine chapel was obtaining permission.

Alan Neuman, producer of "Person to Person," thought many Americans would appreciate a look at the chapel with its famed Michelangelo murals. Views of the chapel will be part of a 30-minute CBS program April 1 when "Person to Person" visits Archbishop Martin J. O'Connor in gin immediately to receive the platto—the plate. That is their annual living expense from the Vatican. It amounts to three million lire—about $5,600—a year. There are some additional payments if the cardinal holds other church administrative offices. The total seldom exceeds $7,000.

But from the day of his elevation to the purple, the new cardinal has increased expenses. He must buy a new set of robes that will cost him close to $1,500.

His residence must be decorous and dignified, with an ample entrance, a chapel, a reception hall and a tapestry-draped throne room with an oil painting of the reigning pope.

His household must include a chamberlain, secretary, doorman or major domo, his own chaplain, and probably his own cook.

his Vatican City residence and then on a tour of the papal city.

Neuman knew that the interior of the chapel had rarely—never successfully—been filmed because of a ban on the use of heavy lighting.

He figured modern TV tape cameras could do without brilliant lighting. He also decided that lent would be an appropriate time for the program to visit the archbishop, rector of the North American college in Vatican City.

Permission Granted
One telephone call to Archbishop O'Connor, followed by an explanatory letter, won unprecedented permission for the visit.

Neuman's problems started, however, when the crew arrived in Rome to tape the show.

"We thought we'd lost the show the night before we were scheduled to start shooting," recalls Neuman. "A monster said we couldn't go into the chapel because a small maintenance committee insisted there was a regulation in Vatican City that required only its own electric power be used. We must use our own power because we use so much of it."

With the archbishop's help the problem was ironed out. Then they had the problem of adding some light to the dim chapel.

Protect Paintings
"We were not permitted to string lights all over—we were only allowed to light the chapel from one side," Neuman says. "That regulation about string lights stems from a danger of marring the paintings."

They had troubles, too, with various Vatican authorities as they rumbled in with trucks and started stringing cables around and over buildings. "We had to square things

Sinatra Hires Albert Manz

Movie Writer Gets First Hollywood Job Since 1947

Hollywood —A— A writer jailed for refusing to tell congressional investigators if he was a communist will soon get his first Hollywood job since 1947—working for Frank Sinatra.

The singer-actor has hired Albert Manz, one of the so-called "Hollywood Ten," to write the script of the first film in which Sinatra will be producer and director.

Mantz already is working on the films "The Execution of Private Slovik." It is based on William Bradford Huie's book about the execution of the only U.S. soldier sentenced to die for deserting in World War II.

Blacklist Broken
Mantz served 10 months on a road camp after being convicted of contempt of congress 13 years ago. Hollywood producers thereafter agreed not to hire anyone who had refused to answer a congressional committee's questions about communist links.

Sinatra has declined to say what prompted him to break the producers' agreement. Two other producers recently employed writers who had refused to tell probes if they were communists. Otto Preminger hired Dalton Trumbo and Stanley Kramer hired Nedrick Young.

with endless committees, with the Swiss Guards, with plainclothesmen, with the fire department, sanitation department, the water, gas and electric departments," Neuman says. "But we did the show."

CBS Drops Policy On Canned Laughs

New York — CBS is dropping its new policy of saying when canned laughter or applause is used on its television programs.

The policy was adopted three months ago as part of a broad network revision that followed the quiz show scandals. NBC and ABC did not follow suit.

John H. Ream, CBS vice president in charge of program practices, said Monday the network believes that everyone now knows that audience approval can be artificially provided and it is unnecessary to say when it is used.

The network has been using announcements at the end of programs, mentioning "audience reaction technically produced" or "augmented."

Comedians working on network programs have strongly opposed the policy.

Camilo Pascual's 1-Hit, 8-Strikeout Stint Trips Orioles

Moon's Double Hands Yanks Seventh Loss in 10 Games

By The Associated Press
Camilo Pascual, a strong-armed 26-year-old Cuban with a fond attachment for greenbacks, is aiming his blazing fast ball right at the purse strings held by Washington President Calvin Griffith.

Pitching for the Senators, who have languished in the American league cellar for three consecutive years, Pascual compiled a neat 17-10 record during the 1959 campaign and then had to battle Griffith for a hefty raise.

AFL's Oakland Club Grumbles Over Drafting

Soda Claims Names Were Added to List Of 'Untouchables'

BY ALAN CLINE
Oakland, Calif. —(P)— Dissension, minor perhaps but still a rift, smoldered in the American Football league today over drafting players for the Oakland club.

Y. C. Soda, general manager for the eighth and last club to get an AFL franchise, said his beef was mainly over principle.

His troubles, first show of internal dissension in the new league, began Monday when the seven other clubs presented him and Coach Eddie Erdelatz with a list of 11 "untouchable" men Oakland couldn't draft. The Los Angeles Chargers and Houston Oilers, however, tacked on several names of non-transfers, men who wanted to stay with the two clubs.

Should Be Included
"These men should have been included in the 11 untouchables," Soda said.
"When the agreement is to freeze 11, why don't they freeze 11?"

Soda went to AFL Commissioner Joe Foss.

"He said he felt sorry for us, but he couldn't do much about it," Soda related. "But he did say that in the next go-round, the non-transfers would be included among the 'untouchables'."

Soda said the team, still unnamed and without a playing field, has about 20 players under contract now and hopes to get about 35 more from the five rounds of drafting.

George Blanda, former Chicago Bear quarterback, Tom Lanphear, both with Houston; and Ron Waller, former Los Angeles Rams back now with the Chargers, were among the non-transfer group.

M a rquette pushed its way to a winning season (13-12) with the aggressive play of 6-4 center Jim Kersten, a former Menasha St. Mary star, who this year averaged under 10 points per contest.

When the practice sessions opened in mid-October, Kersten seemed destined for another year of reserve duty, the same position he had held the previous two campaigns with the Warriors. It wasn't until the third game of the season when coach Hickey plunked Kersten into the starting lineup.

'Yeoman Job'
The veteran head man of Marquette says, "Of all the players on the squad, he had the most determination. Kersten did a yeoman job for us."

In enumerating Kersten's talents, Hickey first points out that although he faced a taller opponent in almost every game, the rugged middle man was a tough defensive player.
"He has the knack for defending against the inside offensive man," the Warrior coach said.

Kersten piled up an outstanding athletic record at St.

Mary before graduating in 1956.

Despite the fine performance in high school, Marquette almost passed Kersten by. He was named to the all-conference (Fox River Valley Catholic conference) squad his senior year, but the big star at St. Mary's was Ron Dibelius. The tricky guard was the prime target of Jack Nagel, then Marquette's coach.

Persuaded Nagel
Zephyr chief Ralph Mc-Clone, a Marquette alumnus, persuaded Nagel to take Kersten along with him. Kersten didn't let McClone down as he earned his third varsity letter this year.

Dibelius, on the other hand, was forced out of Marquette competition after his sophomore year when he signed a professional baseball contract.

Kersten perhaps improved more than any other Warrior this season and by the final game, people couldn't help but comment on his steady play. After Kersten dumped in a career high of 25 points against Illinois this year, Hickey told him, "I guess I can't call you unproductive anymore."

The former St. Mary athlete was on the Zephyr bench 10 days ago when the Menasha club used slow-down tactics to upset St. Catherine, 32-30, for the Catholic state crown.

Kersten, who will be graduating in June plans to coach basketball and teach. He will marry Miss Margaret Helein, Appleton, July 30.

Terror Track Team Prepares for Madison Test, Outdoor Season

Only 7 Lettermen Included on Early Roster of 120

BY MIKE DREW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

For the first time in several seasons the Appleton High school track team is going through its early training paces without a school record-holder in camp.

Last year such Terror greats as miler Don Loker and pole vaulter Dennis Tank started their senior campaigns already owning the AHS standard in their specialty. In 1958 the same thing was true of half miler John Cotton.

And, last year, Loker began his final AHS season with the Wisconsin Class A mile championship already among his list of accomplishments.

Some Go Outdoors

This time, though, 120 boys have been participating in early workouts but none have yet achieved the "glamor" status of a Loker, Tank or Cotton.

Under the direction of Head Coach Ray Kinziger and Assistants Herb Simon and Keith Kohlman, the Terror thinclads are now in their third week of drills. Some went outside for the first time Monday, though not on the still wet and snowy track.

Most of the practice time thus far has been spent in the AHS gym and in corridors around it. Some of the field events men have used the indoor facilities at Lawrence college.

The first 1960 competition comes April 16 in the Madison West relays. The outdoor season begins with a triangular here against Neenah and Fond du Lac the following Friday.
It is the first of only two Terror home dates this spring.

Appleton has slated two tri-angulars and three duals preceding the Fox River Valley conference, sectional and FR-VC relay meets.

Co-Captains Cal Kluess and Dave LaViolette head a contingent of seven returning lettermen. Kluess is a middle distance man and LaViolette a hurdler.

Hirsch Replaces Pete Rozelle as Ram Official

3-Year Contract Signed by New General Manager

Los Angeles —(P)— Old football players don't necessarily fade away. Sometimes they come back, as Elroy "Crazylegs" Hirsch did as the newly named general manager of the Los Angeles Rams.

Hirsch, whose fantastic catches of passes thrilled Ram fans for nine years until his retirement in 1957, signed a 3-year contract Tuesday. He succeeds Pete Rozelle, who moved up to become commissioner of the National Football league.

No Terms Divulged

Salary terms were not divulged, but a good guess is that "Crazylegs" will earn $75,000 for the three years.

Hirsch, a hero in his native Wisconsin since his playing days at Wausau, the University of Wisconsin (1942) and Michigan (U. S. Marine wartime program, 1943), has been active in radio and television since his playing career ended.

In 1951, when the Rams won the NFL championship, he set a league record of 1,495 yards gained on passes and caught 17 touchdown passes.

Braves Take Post-Game Hitting Drill

Bradenton, Fla. —(P)— The Braves were mauled, 8-1, Tuesday by the St. Louis Cardinals, and after the damage had been done, the unmerry Milwaukee warriors were ordered by Manager Charlie Dressen to stay on the field for a concentrated batting drill.

The Braves were considerably less than inspiring as they suffered their fifth Grapefruit league defeat in nine games. "Vinegar" Bend Mizell controlled Milwaukee for his six innings, giving up three hits and losing a shutout on Del Crandall's homer, his first of the spring. He retired the first 13 batters before Mike Krsnick doubled in the fifth.

Pizarro Takes Loss

Bob Duliha was touched for three hits but no runs as he finished the pitching chores for the Cards who are now 5-3 in the training season. Three Milwaukee pitchers were mauled for a dozen hits.

Two Runs

Juan Pizarro gave up two runs in the first inning and was stuck with the loss. In his four innings, he allowed two hits, issued five walks, hit two batters and committed a balk.

The Cardinals got to Ron Piche for three runs in the fifth and two more in the sixth. Tony Diaz yielded one run on four hits in the final three innings.

Rookie Chris Cannizzaro led the Cardinal attack with a single, a 2-run homer and a double.

Krsnick, from West Allis, was the only Brave to get more than one hit, connecting for a pair of doubles.

Pizarro's downfall began when Daryl Spencer singled and went to second on a balk. Pizarro then struck Bill White with a pitch and followed with three walks.

The Braves were matched today against the Kansas City As, with Joey Jay slated to start against Don Larsen.

Lollar's Respect for Importance of Defense Is Growing Each Year

Sarasota, Fla. —(P)— Sherm
Lollar, the veteran Chicago White Sox catcher, says not until the last few years has he realized the importance of defensive baseball.

"I was like everyone else," says Lollar. "I went along with the thinking that good defensive ball players were a dime a dozen; that you could shake good glovemen out of trees but that it was the guy with the hammer who was hard to find."

"This just isn't so," says Lollar. "The good fielders are hard to find, too. I know we couldn't have won the pennant if we didn't have such a fine defense."

Big 10 Battle Lines Drawn

Ban on All Post-Season Sports Is Calculated Risk of Athletic Chiefs

By Charles Chamberlain

Chicago —P— Big Ten participation in the Rose bowl football game caused battle lines to be drawn within the conference.

Various renewals of the contract with the West coast in the last 14 years generally received the bare required majority of a 6-4 vote in the Big Ten.

Resumption of a contract with the new Big Five of Southern California, Stanford,

Washington, UCLA and California recently was killed by a 5-5 deadlock vote.

Ultimately, the switch against the New Year's day classic by Ohio State keynoted

the death of a new pact. OSU joined the negative side of Minnesota, Illinois, Northwestern and Wisconsin.

The Rose bowl created a 2-sided issue between the educational and athletic branches at various schools.

Faculties Sensitive

On the one side were the faculties, sensitive about their feelings of over-emphasis on sports and the effect academically.

On the other were the athletic departments, acutely aware of the prestige-filled

Rose bowl as a media for crystallizing the football program—a program dependent on carrying to a great extent the entire athletic financial load.

Loss of a Rose bowl contract cost the conference $300,000 a year and a recruiting sales pitch that cannot be measured in money. The loss, parlayed with what recruiting problems may be already imposed by the financial aid plan based on need, brought coaches and athletic directors to a new boil.

Issues began mounting a year ago. A so-called explosion at Ohio State vested athletic control in a faculty council rather than a faculty-dominated but pro-athletic committee. The new group was anti-Rose bowl.

Escape Clause

With the post-season game dead on a contractual level,

an escape clause was uncovered permitting Rose bowl participation on an individual school basis. A majority vote was needed to knock it out of the bylaws. Indiana switched, making the vote against individual school participation,

6-4.

A chain reaction followed.

The irked athletic directors tossed a hot potato into the laps of the faculties by proposing that the Big Ten, for the sake of consistency, ban postseason competition in all sports.

This now is being voted on at an institutional level. It is a calculated gamble by athletic directors who hope to bring sports programs in a new light. The primary thought behind it is a possible eventual new outlook on post-season football.

If the gamble fails, the Big Ten could become the Ivy league of the midwest.

State Asks Court To Halt Borings

Charge Safety Rules Omitted When Sinking Caisson Shafts

An injunction to stop boring 80-foot shafts for a building addition will be sought against the Caisson corporation, Skokie, Ill., by the state at 2 p. m. today in municipal court.

The Caisson corporation is boring the shafts for the Wisconsin Telephone company's building addition. The state charges the Skokie firm has failed to comply with Wisconsin Industrial Commission safety regulations by not encasing the 3-foot shaft for the full 80-foot depth.

Industrial commission regulations on shaft boring require encasing the shaft and installing a shield at the bottom for cave-in protection. Workmen at the bottom of the shafts provide space for a bell base support.

No protection was provided by the Skokie firm until Bogan warned it Monday and Tuesday, the state charges.

Bogan was told Tuesday that the latest shaft was cased to within five feet of the bottom. Earlier shafts have been filled with concrete to from the building supports.

Seeking the temporary injunction are two assistant Wisconsin attorneys general, LeRoy Dalton and George Schwan, who came to Appleton this morning at the request of Bogan. The work was inspected by Ed Bull, a member of the mine and caisson division of the Industrial Commission.

Sinking the caissons is the first step in building the 5-story addition and a fifth floor on the existing building, for a total cost in excess of $800,000.

The Skokie firm had completed nine caissons as of Tuesday, and had six to do. It takes about a day for each one.

Probably, says baseball writer Joe McGuff of the Kansas City Star.

McGuff reported Tuesday that Manager Bob Elliott of the A's hinted a trade. It would be the sixteenth deal between the teams since 1955.

Asked by newsmen if any deals were being considered, Elliott replied: "The Yankees have an infielder I wouldn't mind having. And he's not playing regularly either."

This wasn't much of a clue to the player's identity since the closest thing to a regular in Yankee Manager Casey Stengel's operation is Stengel himself.

However, the Yankees have three men who more or less match Elliott's description—Cletis Boyer, Andy Carey and Fritz Brickell.

McGuff speculated that the Athletics would swap one or more of their outfielders for an infielder. He pointed out that the Yankees are thin in the outfield. They have seven outfielders in camp, but only Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris and Hector Lopez are of known front line caliber.

In contrast, the A's have six good men in Bill Tuttle, Norm Siebern, Bob Cerv, Hank Bauer, Russ Snyder and Whitey Herzog not to mention utility man Dick Williams. And, one of the best-looking youngsters in camp is Leo Posada (1958 three I league player), who batted .281 last year in class AA ball.

Probably, says baseball writer Joe McGuff of the Kansas City Star.

McGuff reported Tuesday that Manager Bob Elliott of the A's hinted a trade. It would be the sixteenth deal between the teams since 1955.

Asked by newsmen if any deals were being considered, Elliott replied: "The Yankees have an infielder I wouldn't mind having. And he's not playing regularly either."

This wasn't much of a clue to the player's identity since the closest thing to a regular in Yankee Manager Casey Stengel's operation is Stengel himself.

However, the Yankees have three men who more or less match Elliott's description—Cletis Boyer, Andy Carey and Fritz Brickell.

Rep. Byrnes Raps Nelson

State Congressman Verbally Spanks Him For Kennedy Remark

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington, D.C. — Rep. John W. Byrnes, Green Bay, today jumped into the current Democratic fracas over Sen. Kennedy's voting record and verbally spanked both Gov. Gaylord Nelson and Sen. William Proxmire for what Byrnes called "denouncing a forthright discussion of a candidate's voting record."

Congressman Byrnes was referring to remarks made by the governor and Proxmire in which they criticized Sen. Hubert Humphrey now stomping the state in the Democratic presidential primary for his suggestion that Kennedy's farm voting record and the position of Republican Vice President Richard Nixon were "like tweedle-dee and tweedle-dum."

"Sen. Humphrey with whom I could not disagree more on basic issues, not only has the right, but the duty to discuss Sen. Kennedy's vote in the U.S. senate," Byrnes declared.

"While I can understand why Gov. Nelson and Sen. Proxmire are shy about taking a look at the record in their own cases, they have no right to deprive the voters of Wisconsin of a public debate on Sen. Kennedy's record," Byrnes continued. "That record shows that there are two Kennedy's; the old, pre-presidential candidate whose record Sen. Humphrey denounces, and the new Kennedy whose vote in the last two years cannot be distinguished from Humphrey's."

Byrnes advised that "conservatives in Wisconsin should take a good look at the record of Kennedy, just as radicals like Humphrey have the right to take a look at the old Kennedy. They should not be foreclosed by Gov. Nelson and Sen. Proxmire from examining Kennedy's strange record."

Infections Should be Covered, Can be Transferred to Others

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is gangrene of the leg contagious? Or is there any danger of infection during a visit with such a person?" —Mrs. E. H.

Gangrene is due to plugged arterial circulation. It is not contagious in itself. But the presence of odor means Dr. Molner that infection has invaded the area of gangrene, and due precautions should, of course, be taken to keep that area covered. To make it plainer, a cut finger isn't contagious. If the cut becomes infected, then keep the infection from being transferred to anyone else, or to any other part of the person who has the infected cut.

Offending Term

"Dear Dr. Molner: May I congratulate you on your interpretation of medicine to the public in simple, readable English? However, I feel you have gone too far in using the term 'hare lip' for cleft lip. As a speech therapist, I have known a number of people who resent being compared to an animal (a rather lowly animal at that; no one objects to 'lion-hearted') because they were born with an anomaly which resembled the lip of a hare. —M. W."

You are quite likely right.

Cleft lip or cleft palate is a better term than "hare lip." Yet many people know it only by the latter term. I try very hard not to offend; I try (as you recognize) to be clear. In this case, I'm not quite sure what to do. Since no offense is meant on my part, I think clarity becomes paramount. Still, I shall think seriously about your suggestion, and I thank you for it.

Old Man's Letter

"Dear Sir: I am now nearly 84 years old, have 20-20 vision, blood pressure 140-over-80, 5 feet 8, weigh 160.

"I started to smoke at 15. Nearly three years ago I bought some tablets. I read the directions wrong at first, but the second day I took the tablets as directed, and the first cigarette after that tasted awful. I tried another and it was worse. So I told myself, 'This is it. I don't smoke no more.' And I haven't smoked since. I tried to cut down four years ago but it didn't work. If a man of 80 can quit smoking after 65 years, so can anyone who wants to—R. L."

"P. S.: Just use my initials. No name or address, as I will not answer anybody."

O. K. You won't answer. If the tablets made tobacco taste bad, you got your money's worth. But you give the real answer in your letter. Anybody can quit who wants to. Nobody can quit if he doesn't want to. Thank you, sir, for your lucid letter.

Why suffer from sinus trouble? Much can be done to help you, and it is explained in my booklet, "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble." To receive your copy, write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.
